It’s Time: That’s the new marketing campaign the Montana Office of Tourism (MTOT) launched in fiscal year 2015, and it rings true a number of ways—to the consumers MTOT’s marketing reaches, to our partners, and to how we’re prioritizing our work here at the Montana Department of Commerce.

According to the Institute for Tourism and Recreation Research at the University of Montana, 10.9 million visitors last year agreed it’s time to visit Montana, adding $3.9 billion to the state’s economy and breaking last year’s non-resident spending record by more than 8 percent.

After 20 years of using the same digital infrastructure, we decided it’s time to build a new state-of-the-art website from the ground up. VisitMT.com is the go-to source for more than 2 million users per year who are learning about Montana for the first time, planning a vacation, or who are already here and looking for more ways to make the most of their time under the big sky.

Built with bold photos and video front and center (not to mention reworked under the hood to be faster and more responsive to evolving technology), the new VisitMT.com launched in March to better serve its users and to bring Montana’s tourism promotion efforts into a new generation.

And finally, recognizing the many connectivities between Montana’s tourism industry and economic development, we decided it’s time to bring these areas closer together at the state and have begun laying the groundwork to merge MTOT with the Business Resources Division in FY16 in order to maximize resources and market Montana both as a place to visit and to do business.

Thank you for your interest in the Montana Promotions Division. Fiscal year 2015 was an exciting one, and even more exciting times are yet to come.

Meg O’Leary, Director, Montana Department of Commerce
MONTANA OFFICE OF TOURISM

MISSION STATEMENT

The Montana Office of Tourism’s mission is to strengthen Montana’s economy through the promotion of the state as a vacation destination and film location. By maximizing the combined talents and abilities of its staff, and with guidance from the Governor’s Tourism Advisory Council, The Montana Office of Tourism strives to promote a quality experience to visitors while encouraging preservation of Montana’s environment and quality of life.

VISION STATEMENT

The Montana Vision is to increase visitation and improve the visitor experience while preserving Montana community values and protecting its unique places. The Montana Office of Tourism strives to achieve its guiding principles by focusing on the supporting pillars of Montana businesses via product, marketing, and respect.

Tourism is one of Montana’s leading industries. Non-resident visitors add money to the state’s economy, supporting jobs and reducing state and local taxes for Montana residents. The Montana Office of Tourism markets Montana to maximize non-resident spending. From 2010–14, visitation increased 4.9% while spending increased 59.4%.

ECONOMIC IMPACT PROFILE (VS. 2013)

Non-resident Visitation: 10.9 Million (-1.2%)
Non-resident Spending: $3.9 Billion (+7.6%)
Jobs Supported: 53,280 (+10.4%)
Salaries: $1.3 Billion (+3.2%)
State & Local Taxes: $217.6 Million (-7.8%)

Without non-resident tax revenue, each Montana household would pay an estimated $537 additional state/local taxes. (Total state and local tax revenue/total occupied housing units.)

Economic impact data collected and published by the Institute for Tourism & Recreation Research, itrr.umt.edu.
Tourism and film promotion is funded through the 4% Lodging Facility Use Tax, commonly known as the “Bed Tax.” Enacted by the 1987 legislature, the Bed Tax is collected from guests of hotels, motels, bed and breakfasts, guest ranches, resorts, and campgrounds. These funds are divided according to the chart below.

No additional funds come from Montana’s General Fund. In fact, tourism helps to support the General Fund due to the additional 3% Lodging Facility Sales Tax added to the original 4% in 2003.
In FY15, the Marketing Bureau launched a new campaign: It’s Time.

The campaign started in winter and continued into the warm season, incorporating elements of paid, earned, and social media.

Winter Campaign

Digital and print ads featuring Glacier National Park, Yellowstone National Park, winter activities, and Montana’s 15 ski areas ran on popular travel websites and major publications. Ads pointed to the freshly redesigned WinterMT.com.

In addition to national digital and print, advertising targets key markets such as Boise, Chicago, Dallas, Minneapolis, Portland, San Francisco, Seattle and Spokane.

MTOT continued to build on its three-year sponsorship with Warren Miller Entertainment (WME). Nearly nine minutes of footage shot at Montana ski areas was featured in WME’s 2014 film, “No Turning Back.”

The Montana Timeline Facebook app enabled users to create a custom “timeline” by importing photos they’ve posted to Facebook or Instagram or by uploading them directly. The app also featured Notable Timelines by Montana professional photographers.

FY Media Spend:

- Digital Display Impressions: $4,956,747
- Average CTR: 0.44%
- Social Media Impressions: 216,177,201
- Social Media Engagements: 75,102,818
- PR Media Impressions: 3,511,321,284
- VisitMT.com Sessions: 1,895,250
Summer Campaign

For the warm season, Montana continued its national media strategy and returned to the key markets of Chicago, Minneapolis, and Seattle for innovative out-of-home activations.

The “Montana Mercantile,” a truck set up to appear like a Montana storefront, traveled to each of the key markets and offered samples of Made in Montana huckleberry ice cream and bison jerky while encouraging visitors to post selfies to social media with the hashtag #IdRatherBeinMT.

MTOT launched a new official travel website at VisitMT.com in March, bolstering its capacity to promote Montana as a vacation destination through digital marketing.

The result of a year’s worth of planning and production, the new website brings a fresh design with bold, inspiring photography and a host of new features. For example, a “Trip Ideas” section features 18 itineraries and maps designed to help visitors discover new points of interest, while an alert system provides users with real-time information related to opportunities such as fresh powder in the winter and major road openings in the warm season.

In addition, less visible enhancements under the hood improve the user experience by bringing the website up to modern standards, including responsive design for smartphones and tablets, faster servers, and an online business resource tool that allows businesses and partners to add or maintain listings to their product through the site.

Overseas Reach

MTOT continued its custom partnerships with National Geographic Traveler and Men’s Journal. “Real Brewers,” a partnership with Men’s Journal, paired a recreational activity with drinks from a brewery nearby into a web video series.

Three episodes were produced, one each to highlight Bozeman, Helena and the Flathead Valley. TV personality Zane Lamprey hosted.

The Montana Office of Tourism promotes Montana abroad to key markets like Canada, Scandinavia, Western Europe, East Asia, and Australia.

The International Marketing program has done multi-channel advertising programs in Canada, Germany, the UK and Australia. The program featured print and direct to consumer components. MTOT offered a joint venture opportunity with various regions and CVBs to create in-language videos for the German market. Three new in-language websites were launched in Germany, Italy and France.

Visitation and spending habits of international visitors appear to be on the rise with nearly $137 million in visitor spending, approximately $5 million more than in 2013, according to ITRR.

VISITMT.COM

MONTANA MAIN STREET

The Montana Main Street program is a collaborative effort between the Community Development Division and the Montana Office of Tourism at the Department of Commerce. The program helps communities strengthen and preserve their historic downtown commercial districts by focusing on economic development, downtown revitalization, historic preservation, and tourism through proactive long-range planning, organization, design, and promotion.

Montana Main Street invested $51,000 in FY15 into five community projects in Anaconda, Dillon, Helena, Kalispell, and Thompson Falls.

Welcomed Twin Bridges into the state program to advance total membership to 25 communities; 2 designated and 23 affiliate.

Provided 23 communities with on-site training and technical assistance, and assisted 25 member communities and 21 non-member communities via phone and e-mail.

COMMUNITY WORKSHOPS

Conducted five community workshops, entitled “Coming Together to Expand Montana’s Tourism Story,” in Browning, Shelby, Hamilton, Chico Hot Springs, and Bigfork.

We explored the communities near and on location at the workshop. We approached this as a Geotraveler, our target audience, would by visiting museums, attractions, and restaurants and by taking part in activities, etc. Our experiences were documented with images to share with our followers on Facebook and Twitter. The posts and tweets were used as examples in the workshop deck.

As of June 30, 2015, we have presented 31 workshops with a total of more than 600 attendees.

GOVERNOR’S CONFERENCE

The Sales and Constituent Services Bureau directed planning of the 41st annual Governor’s Conference on Tourism and Recreation, held in March 2015 at the Red Lion Colonial Hotel in Helena.

Approximately 400 people representing a diverse variety of Montana’s tourism industry sectors attended the conference for networking opportunities and to attend educational sessions on topics such as MTOT’s new “It’s Time” campaign, leveraging the science of relationships, and custom partnerships with National Geographic Traveler. More than half of all attendees responded to a post-conference evaluation survey. Nearly 76% of the responses said the sessions were either “very good” or “excellent.”

In FY15, the Department of Commerce provided $850,000 in grant funds through the Montana Office of Tourism. These funds supported 29 tourism projects related to digital marketing, special events, and infrastructure investment.
Established in 1974, the Montana Film Office (MFO) exists primarily to recruit productions (feature films, commercials, documentaries, television programs, and still shoots) into Montana for the overall economic benefit of the state. A program of the Department of Commerce's Office of Tourism and Business Development, MFO markets Montana as a business destination for film and commercial production companies, provides funding for Montana production through the Big Sky Film Grant program, provides technical assistance to production across the state, and supports workforce development initiatives to promote infrastructure and job growth. MFO and the Big Sky Film Grant are supported by dollars from the Bed Tax to promote travel and film activity to the state. Through increasing production numbers, MFO increases the job opportunities for Montanans, and the economic impact of film production to Montana businesses generated by homegrown and out-of-state production companies.

PROMOTIONS & MARKETING

In FY15, MFO marketed efforts prioritized public relations and face-to-face networking, targeting film festivals, trade shows, media markets and other gatherings of large coalitions of independent filmmakers, digital media makers and international news and press. This has allowed MFO to achieve focused, maximum promotional impacts at a cost effective investment. As a result, digital and print media placement strategies were narrowed to target creative directors, independent filmmakers and influencers in each of these groups. MFO has already seen impressive returns from this strategy. Contacts made through these efforts and the influence of the Big Sky Film Grant have lead to 5 major projects shooting in Montana in 2015.

BIG SKY FILM GRANT

Major marketing highlights include MFO's attendance at the American Film Market as a preeminent film commission exhibitor, providing a sales venue for several Montana filmmakers looking to sell films in the international marketplace. As part of a continued partnership with Film Independent, MFO also became a Festival Supporter of the Los Angeles Film Festival, which provided an elevated presence for Montana filmmakers in the international marketplace. As part of a continued partnership with Film Independent, MFO also became a Festival Supporter of the Los Angeles Film Festival, which provided an elevated presence for Montana filmmakers looking to sell films in the international marketplace.

In FY15 the Big Sky Film Grant provided funding to 47 projects, investing in Montana productions that collectively spent nearly $6 million on Montana resident crew, production services, hotels, restaurants, building supplies, props, décor, transportation and other local goods and services. These dollars go into Montana communities creating new businesses and expanding existing ones with job creation and increased growth potential, furthering development of Montana film industry infrastructure and Montana-centric content for worldwide distribution.

MFO introduced a new application process in FY15 through Missoula-based web application Submittable, streamlining both applicant experience and the committee review process for the Big Sky Film Grant program.

PRODUCTION ACTIVITY & TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE

FY15 data from the Reel-Scout production database shows that MFO provided services and/or technical assistance to 220 projects in FY15 including 38 commercials, 20 documentaries, 39 independent features and 30 new media projects. 105 of those projects are currently in production or have wrapped, a 47% conversion rate from inquiry to in-state production. MFO assisted with 5 major location scouts in FY15. Four of these films shot in 2015.

Projects of note that shot in FY15 include Bozeman-based Oracle Film Group’s feature film “Timber the Treasure Dog.”

COMMERCIALS

In partnership with Ford, GMC, Kia and Toyota, top rated HGTV television show “Living Big Sky,” and feature film “Certain Women” directed by acclaimed filmmaker Kelly Reichardt and starring Laura Dern, Kristen Stewart, Michelle Williams and Montana actress Lily Gladstone.

WORKFORCE AND INFRASTRUCTURE DEVELOPMENT

In partnership with the Roxy Theater and their affiliate the Montana Film Academy, MFO helped launch the Production Intensives Series, a 4-part series providing hands-on training to entry level and professional production work in all departments including camera, lighting, sound and production assistance. Two weekend-long courses took place in FY15 and produced a small class of set-ready trainees.

FY15 saw the first Montana Forum on Film + New Media, a forum for conversations among the Montana production industry including filmmakers, production companies, content creators, media agencies, photographers and other stakeholders to promote networking, collaboration and support. Organized and hosted by MFO, the forum was attended by over 150 Montana media makers over two days in Butte, Montana. The event included panels, keynote talks, networking activities and exhibition of recent Montana productions.
