Community & Brand Support

Describe your destination (who you are, who you wish to attract and why would they come) addressing your strengths, opportunities, and potential challenges. How does your destination align with Montana's brand pillars?

Preface

As this is being written, we as a world, country, state and city are in unprecedented times. We are in the midst of a worldwide pandemic, COVID19. We have no way of knowing how long it will last or the lasting health and economic impacts it will have on our world. What we do know is that our lives will be forever changed by this crisis, hopefully, eventually, for the better. The Destination Missoula 2020-21 Marketing Plan was written when we were only aware of COVID19 as a disease that was taking its toll halfway around the world. We did not know, at that time, that we too would be embroiled in the same crisis only a few short months later.

Since we do not have the ability to predict the future, Destination Missoula has chosen to leave our Marketing Plan and budgets as originally written. We will be using it as an aspirational plan and target of where we will eventually bounce back to. That being said, our Board of Directors has in place an internal plan for constant evaluation of our Marketing Plan and budgets, working on a cash basis, to ensure that our expenditures do not exceed the income actually coming into the organization. The organization has made major adjustments to its immediate mission and goals. We have refocused our efforts to meet two main objectives: (1) to share a message of unity and strength throughout the community of Missoula and (2) inspire future travel. We are doing this in the most economical way possible - through our digital and web presence. We curtailed the majority of our print and in-person marketing efforts. Our messaging is focused on calm, inspirational, outdoor imagery, continuing to show that Missoula is a beautiful place to visit as soon as it is safe to travel. We are using no call to action other than to dream, plan for future trips, share your favorite Missoula memories, and be inspired. Our local messaging has been focused on showing care, concern and appreciation for our community. We are highlighting positive, uplifting messaging and stories of community involvement, coming together, and the unique ways people are adapting and helping one another. In addition, we have positioned our organization as a resource for the local tourism industry. We are using our website to list pertinent economic and educational resources for businesses, to highlight the businesses that are still open and encourage people to buy local, and to showcase how our amazing arts community is using live streaming events to help artists continue to generate income while they inspire and entertain our community. We know we are hitting the mark of what is important right now from the overwhelming positive response, both locally and nationally, to our campaign. When we do begin to see signs of a desire by people to travel again and a desire by our community to welcome them, we will be ready to immediately react. Believing that our direct drive markets will be the first to come back, we will have a campaign ready. Then we will remain flexible to react to the remaining markets - direct flight, small meetings and sporting events, and eventually large meetings and events. Throughout this time our team will be staying in close contact with our leisure travelers, meeting and event planners to stay top-of-mind.

Though the tourism industry is taking a massive blow with this crisis, it is also the industry that will lead the recovery of the country, our state, and our city. As we have shown so many times before, we are resilient and can respond quickly to market changes. Missoula has the perfect combination of assets to rebound quickly – safety, abundant recreation, clean air and water, inspirational arts, history and culture, unique attractions and, most importantly, wide-open spaces and relatively few people.

THERE’S THIS PLACE

Destination Missoula is committed to upholding the Montana State Tourism brand pillars while promoting Missoula as a unique and transcendent destination where wanderlust is indulged and discovery is a given.

As we market Missoula we play to its strengths, of which there are a multitude. We also think ahead and take into account opportunities on the horizon that we can use to Destination Missoula’s advantage. As a team, we keep our eyes open to inevitable challenges and work toward solving them efficiently and effectively. And we do it all with a foundation of pure gratitude that we get to live in and tout such an exceptional place.

IDENTITY

In a valley that unfolds at the confluence of three rivers and seven wilderness areas, Missoula, Montana, is anything but ordinary. Here, nature inspires a philosophy of slowing your pace to mountain time, living out loud and taking it all in. Adventure is always top of mind in this paradise where recreation is second-to-none and a balanced and full life is priority number one.

Missoula is the second-largest city in Montana, but to those visitors from large urban areas, Missoula is a vibrant, eclectic and authentic small town bursting with charm and personality, perfectly situated halfway between Montana’s two awe-inspiring treasures—Glacier and Yellowstone national parks.

Served by Missoula International Airport and three major highways, Missoula is the ideal hub from which to explore the many wonders of Montana. Accessibility to world-class recreation makes Missoula an unparalleled place for outdoor exploration. Where else can you hit up one of the West’s best farmers markets, kayak or river surf right downtown, and hike or bike an epically scenic trail in 60,000 acres of wilderness (and wash it all down with a finely-crafted Montana beer, good food and friendly conversation at a local brewery) all in the same day?

Missoula is also a regional destination for shopping and dining, featuring three distinct shopping districts and an abundance of eateries and places to drink—like fine dining, authentic steakhouses, food trucks, iconic taco joints, cafés, coffee shops, distilleries and taprooms—with something to fit all budgets and palates.

Missoula is Montana’s most cosmopolitan and diverse community and the heart of arts and culture in the state, blending contemporary culture and historical heritage seamlessly. Visitors find this arts and cultural hub brimming with a seemingly endless array of entertainment and events. Think symphony, theater, film festivals, nationally recognized artists live in concert, author readings at independent bookstores, college sports, ballet, opera and even roller derby. And, Missoula proudly lives our history, from Native Americans and the Lewis and Clark Expedition to smokejumpers and Glacial Lake Missoula. Missoula is also a regional hub and state leader in commerce, education and health care.

Some might call it unique, cool or hip. Others will experience it as serene, welcoming and replete with natural beauty. Missoula is alive, pulsating with a unique small mountain-town spirit, offering pristine open spaces, places to go, incredible things to see and do and the best people around. Missoula’s unique character is shown through marketing efforts, while incorporating brand fonts, colors and stunning, authentic imagery.

MISSION STATEMENT

Marketing Missoula and surrounding areas as a premiere travel destination, thereby creating vibrant growth in the economy and enhancing quality of life.

STRENGTHS

ARTS AND CULTURE

Nurtured by nature, culture is alive and well in Missoula, home to the most diverse and extensive arts and music community in Montana. From writers to performing artists, from painters to photographers, from historians to museum curators, all are inspired by the beauty, charm and roots of their surroundings. Missoula is fortunate to be home to numerous famous and creative people who add a dimension and depth to the community that is usually only seen in larger cities. Regionally, nationally and, in many cases, internationally renowned, Missoula’s cultural community creates an experience that urban travelers want but do not expect in Montana, making Missoula a surprisingly unique destination with an allure that draws visitors back again and again.

IMMEDIACY OF ACCESS

In Missoula, the great outdoors really are right outside your door and a river really does run through it. On any given day anglers are gracefully casting in the Clark Fork River. Downstream, kayakers and river surfers perform athletic feats atop the man-made Brennan’s Wave. Tubing is an alternative form of transportation in the summer as people ride the river right through town, sometimes on their lunch breaks! Off the water, the trail system that crisscrosses the city keeps people grounded, and bicyclists ride on the country’s friendliest streets. The surrounding hills and mountains offer a powder paradise for winter lovers, like backcountry and cross-country skiing, plus Montana’s Snowbowl, providing downhill adventure right in Missoula’s backyard. So, whether you run, ski, paddleboard, river surf, kayak, bike, hunt, fish, hike, backpack, float or camp, you can indulge your passion in and minutes from Missoula.

REGIONAL HUB

Missoula is a regional center for retail, health care, education, forestry, ecology, transportation and culture. People come from across the state and region to shop in Missoula’s historic downtown boutiques and at Southgate Mall—Western Montana’s largest mall. The preeminent health care provider by renowned physicians and hospitals makes Missoula a center for Western Montana’s health care. Home to the University of Montana, Missoula hosts students from around the world who seek an education that is highly valued and recognized on a campus that is one of the country’s most picturesque. This level of education also produces a population of "top in the field" professionals who work in and serve our community. In order to support these industries, Missoula must also be a transportation hub. Missoula can be reached by two major highways—U.S. Highway 93 and State Highway 200—and Interstate Highway 90. Missoula International Airport hosts six major air carriers and has non-stop flights to Portland, Seattle, San Francisco, Oakland, Los Angeles, Phoenix, Las Vegas, Denver, Atlanta, Minneapolis, Dallas, Salt Lake City and Chicago. With over 59,333 more seats in the market than last year, Missoula is quickly becoming an accessible and affordable travel hub. The Missoula airport is currently undergoing a massive expansion project and by 2021, there will be more terminals and more flights into Missoula.

SPORTS AND ADVENTURE
In Missoula, we play long after the game is over because our outfield is endless. Our proximity to three pristine rivers and seven wilderness areas, and within 100 miles of five ski areas, means adventure is virtually limitless here. We’re a recreation hot spot where play is revered and where teams come together for the love of sport and play nurtured by natural beauty and fresh mountain air. Missoula is also home to a professional baseball team - The Missoula Paddleheads, UM Griz sporting events and the world-famous Missoula Marathon. This Boston qualifying race has been named #1 marathon for three years straight by Runner’s World, and this year was named the #2 marathon in the U.S. by BibRave. Runner’s World was quoted as saying: "‘For Missoula, a ton of runners cited the community support being second to none,’ said Jessica Murphy, cofounder of BibRave. ‘The entire town really comes out to support the race all weekend long.’ Not only that, but the constant view of the mountains serves as inspiration for runners. This is a flat, Boston-qualifying course is sure to please.” (Runner’s World 2019).

Having also hosted such events as the U.S. Freestyle Kayak Championships, USA Cycling Pro XCT and USA Cycling Collegiate Men’s Mountain Bike Championship for two years, Missoula has a proven track record for hosting major recreation-based events. Missoula’s Minor League Baseball team, the Missoula Paddleheads (formerly the Osprey) won the “Best New Look” Logo contest from the MLB in 2019, and their stadium at Ogren Park offers a great spot to enjoy baseball and the sun under Missoula’s summer skies.

STRENGTHS
Missoula successfully hosted the 2017 and 2018 USA Cycling Collegiate Mountain Bike National Championships. Destination Missoula and the Missoula Tourism Business Improvement District worked for a number of years in close collaboration with the USAC to bring this opportunity into Montana. Through a close partnership with the biking community in Missoula and Destination Missoula’s proven track record with Missoula XC, Destination Missoula has been able to bring top collegiate athletes and future Olympians from across the country to compete in Missoula. By successfully hosting these events at the collegiate level, Missoula is now on track to successfully bid for USAC professional racing.

Missoula is also proud to be the host city for University of Montana athletics, where Montana Grizzly pride runs deep. Grizzly athletics brings people from across the region to enjoy Missoula’s unwavering tradition of college sports. In January of 2020, Stadium Journey Magazine ranked all the FCS stadiums across the country, and Washington Grizzly Stadium came in as #2. Stadiums were ranked on food and beverage inside the stadium, overall atmosphere, neighborhood where the stadium resides, the fans, access to and inside the stadium, overall return on investment and unique features not covered in other categories. "When one thinks of Montana one might think of wide open spaces. But Washington-Grizzly Stadium is wedged into the University of Montana campus at the junction of Mount Sentinel and the Clark Fork River with very little room to spare," says Jason Karp. "The density of the stadium and campus generates an energy that transmits to the tailgate parties happening on almost every spare patch of grass creating a festive environment on game day in Missoula."

Missoula’s much-anticipated Fort Missoula Regional Park made its debut in the spring of 2017, with the opening of the soccer multi-use fields and facilities at the west end of the park. In June of 2018 the fully completed park was opened to the public. The regional park features a five-field, lighted softball complex with moveable fences, two additional softball fields, nine full-size multi-use fields for soccer, football, lacrosse and rugby, one lighted artificial turf multi-use field, pickleball, basketball and volleyball courts. The addition of these amenities allows Missoula to bid for and host major tournaments that Destination Missoula previously not been able to for lack of infrastructure. These tournaments will have a significant economic impact on Missoula. This new park is the realization of a years-long effort to create a recreation epicenter in Missoula, including walking trails, open space, playgrounds, picnic shelters and pavilions, historic interpretation and more. Since the opening of the Park, Destination Missoula has supported their efforts with 2 leads to TBID hotels for a potential of over 10,459 room nights.

MUSIC AND ENTERTAINMENT
Part of our charm is that we march to the beat of our own drum here in Missoula, and we wholeheartedly celebrate the mountain sound and the rhythm the rivers afford. Missoula’s music scene is broad, running the gamut from orchestral to bluegrass and country to hip hop, and the city has hosted such icons as Pearl Jam, Paul McCartney, The Rolling Stones, Mumford and Sons, Chris Stapleton, Sheryl Crow and many more. The line up for 2020 is already wildly impressive—Guns N Roses, Brandi Carlisle, Ben Folds, Vampire Weekend and the Avett Brothers, to name a few headliners. Missoula’s outdoor venues steal the scene during the summer. Ogren Park at Allegiance Field is a go-to for summer entertainment for crowds up to 10,000 people. Summer 2019 saw two outdoor amphitheaters open. Big Sky Brewing upgraded their concert facilities to feature an amphitheater next to the brewery with a capacity of 5,000. The 4,000 seat Kettlehouse Amphitheater in Bonner (7 miles from Missoula) sits along the banks of the beautiful Blackfoot River. With a vast and seemingly endless array of arts and entertainment events and an abundance of restaurants, cafés, coffee houses, breweries, wine bars and distilleries, having fun off the trail is just as easy to do. The varied music venues in Missoula are receiving national acclaim with The Top Hat and The Wilma listed in Pollstar’s Top 100 Clubs and the Kettlehouse
Amphitheater listed in the Top 100 Amphitheaters in the US!

NIGHTLIFE

For a small town, Missoula surprises with a nightlife scene that is the perfect combination of laid back and trendy. Whether visitors are looking for upscale dining and cocktails or dive atmospheres, they will find affordable fare, great ambiance and many options throughout the entire town. The Dram Shop opening up in the Southgate Mall neighborhood provides a downtown flare to an area where many visitors stay outside of the heart of the city. First Friday Gallery Night is consistently a favorite for visitors where they can mingle with locals, have complimentary beverages and snacks and take in local artwork. The additional storefronts in the Mercantile Building have provided increased options for dining and nightlife and extended the already-vibrant downtown scene in Missoula.

OPPORTUNITIES

TRANSPORTATION

In January 2015, Mountain Line began a three-year Zero-Fare demonstration project with a goal of expanding total ridership by 45%. By the final year of the Zero-Fare demonstration project, the results were phenomenal. Ridership grew from just over 900,000 rides in 2014 to 1.4 million rides in 2016, an increase of more than 50%, and the growth continues today. Zero-Fare bus service improves the quality of life for Missoula’s entire community by dramatically increasing ridership. More transit riders means better air quality, less traffic and parking congestion, more students getting to class, more employees getting to work, and more seniors and people with disabilities staying active and mobile. Destination Missoula—with partners from across the community—contribute to make Zero-Fare a reality and feel that it is an example to other Montana communities. It is a huge benefit to visitors, as there is service from the Missoula International Airport to all reaches of town. Mountain Line has launched six zero-emissions, all electric buses to their fleet in the summer of 2019, marking the beginning of an exciting new chapter in Missoula’s public transit story. Together with Zero-Fare partners, Mountain Line provides free transportation to Missoulian locals and visitors alike. Their electric buses and frequent Bolt! scheduled routes make the bus a great option for visitors who wish to explore the city but have opted not to rent a car or other transportation method.

UBER and LYFT are also available transportation sources for the Missoula community. These app-based services put a ride or a delivery at your fingertips. It also provides a flexible source of income for Missoulians.

Missoula International Airport had another record-setting year in 2019 MSO handled 907,777 passengers, an increase of 59,333 or 7% over 2018. With the addition of American Airlines and the direct flight to Dallas, Missoula is served by six airlines to 13 non-stop flight destinations, which makes it comparable to much larger cities. Since 2000, MSO has experienced a 97% increase in passenger traffic from 459,664 to 907,777 in 2018. MSO is anticipating another record setting year.

ECONOMIC UPTURN

With the upturn in our economy, Missoula is beginning to see new growth in sectors that directly relate to tourism. Many new retail stores, restaurants and breweries have opened or are slated to open in Missoula in all three shopping districts. Southgate Mall’s expansion, including the announcement that a SCHEELS store will be opening in 2020, will create even more opportunities for economic growth. Missoula will also see new hotels opening, existing hotels renovating, increased private student housing in the city core and has started the complete reconstruction of our airport to accommodate our increasing demand for air service.

“Visit the website destinationmissoula.org and the first thing which pops up is a series of vignettes which espouse the virtues of Missoula,” Conforti said in a statement. “Having now visited Southgate Mall several times over the previous 18 months, I am pleased to report every single one of them is true … music, dining, culture and especially the one which proclaims “the great outdoors are right outside your door.”” Conforti went on to say that the store will cater to people seeking a variety of adventures. “With this in mind, there was only one logical choice to satisfy every hiking, skiing, skating, baseballing, boxing, softballing, cycling, hunting, swimming, soccereing, fishing, running, camping, spectating, yogaing (just to name a few) needs of active Missoulians, and we’re pleased to announce it is SCHEELS,” he said. “They’re one of the best merchants out there for the simple reason they respect their customers and colleagues (they’re employee owned) and their stores are really cool.” - Lou Conforti, CEO Washington Prime

INFRASTRUCTURE

The face of Missoula is changing rapidly, all the while preserving the heart of what makes this community one truly extraordinary place. These are a few of the major projects that will be completed within the next few years:

MID-TOWN GROWTH – Southgate Mall is in the middle of a 70,000-square-foot expansion project bringing new dining, shopping, entertainment, residential housing, retail and office space to the midtown district of Missoula. With more than $64 million in private investments and additional funding from the City of Missoula, this project has created a new street network in the surrounding neighborhoods to create ease of access for these neighborhoods to surrounding schools and entertainment options, and to enhance livability and raise property values. This multi-year project will create $320,000 per year in new property taxes, 700 new construction jobs and 375 new permanent jobs, and it will safeguard 1,250 existing jobs. 2019 did bring some unexpected closures—due to national corporate decisions, Missoula’s midtown lost both Lucky’s Market and JC Penny at Southgate Mall. While these closures were a sad reality to this area, Southgate Mall’s renovations have begun to attract more big brand names, such as SCHEELS, and we anticipate many more restaurants and retail stores will take over the newly renovated storefronts at Southgate Mall.

In recent years, Midtown Missoula has seen local favorites expanding from downtown to Midtown, including Dram Shop, Notorious P.I.G., Big Dipper, Bridge Pizza, The Trail Head and Rattlesnake Distillery. The opening of second storefronts from these Missoula treasures has only served, and will continue to serve, to enhance the charm of the Midtown area and bring local Missoula flavors to an area that was once known primarily for larger branded stores.

Additionally, the Missoula Fairgrounds, home to the Western Montana Fair and other large special events, plans to expand their footprint, including the expansion of the ice rink, building a Butterfly House and Community Gardens, and improved work on the commercial building, with the goal of accessibility.

DOWNTOWN MISSOULA REVITALIZATION – Downtown Missoula has recently seen an influx of new businesses which are adding a fresh new face to the town. The Mercantile Building has brought a number of new storefronts including ZooThai, The Camino, Sobba Cycle, Basil, 1889 Steakhouse, the Montana Scene, Olive and Iron and CREATE Art Bar. Also, the downtown has seen the addition of Hype House Studio, Second Set Bistro and the new location of Radius Gallery.

MISSOULA PUBLIC LIBRARY – The Missoula Public Library is the busiest library in the state, with 700,000 visitors annually, 60,000 cardholders and more than 1 million items loaned out per year. The current library is inadequate to meet the growing demand, and the current building is not structurally sound to add more levels. A public bond of $30 million was passed, and the new building will include $5.5 million in private investment and an additional $500,000 investment from the library and its foundation. Construction started this year, with an estimated opening of early 2020. The new library will represent Missoula's core values. It will be a lifelong learning hub for Missoula County, a permanent anchor of downtown Missoula, and a popular cultural destination for Western Montana’s many visitors.

- 100,000 to 120,000 square feet; five levels, including increased parking
- Innovative partnerships with Children’s Museum Missoula/Families First, UM SpectrUM Science
- Discovery Center, and Missoula Cable Access Television
- Collection growth from 200,000 to 600,000 eventual items
- Increased and improved access to learning tools and resources
- Energy efficiency, and the highest possible LEED certification
- Climate control for preserving Missoula’s community history
- Tripled capacity for computer access and faster internet
- More public gathering spaces and meeting room flexibility

SAWMILL DISTRICT – Located on the southside of the Clark Fork just outside of downtown, the Sawmill District is a new-construction consisting of condos, restaurants, retail and office space. This year also saw the completion of The Sawyer, another private student housing project. A 57-unit, 218 bedroom pod-styled living apartment building. This trendy new neighborhood abuts the Riverfront Trail System, providing easy access to the rest of town, and is in close proximity to Ogren Park, the Missoula Osprey Stadium at Allegiance Field, Silver Park, Currents Aquatic Center, MoBash Skate Park and numerous other recreational opportunities. 2019 brought the opening of a tech center with 200,000 feet of space for housing, restaurants, daycare and office.

MISSOULA INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT – The Missoula International Airport has begun work on its $110,000,000 expansion project. The project will be completed in two phases and is expected to be completely finished by 2021. Demolition of the west terminal has begun. When complete, the new airport terminal will be approximately 175,000 sq. ft. and three stories with 8 gates over two concourses. The plans also include room for future expansion of the airport.

DRIFT – In 2019, Nick Checota, owner of Logjam Presents, announced the plans for Drift, a 6,000 capacity entertainment venue to be built on Front and Orange just outside of downtown Missoula. This project will also bring storefront space for restaurants and other businesses, as well as a 200-room boutique hotel. The intention is to create a civic center space for Missoula to attract events that the town currently does not have the infrastructure to support, such as TED Talks, meetings and conferences, larger concerts and more.

CULINARY AND SPIRITS TOURISM

Two of the hottest trends in travel right now are culinary trips and spirits trips, and Missoula is the perfect place for both. In 2018, culinary travel was estimated to generate a $268 billion industry and 39 million people identifying themselves as culinary travelers.

“Food has an unmatched ability to communicate a unique sense of place. Local cuisine provides a direct connection to the history of a region, the soul of its people, and the rhythm of daily life.” - Skift.com.

“Food tourism is nothing new, but its exponential growth is remodeling how destinations position themselves in the global tourism market.” –Greg Oates.

“Whereas travelers in past generations may have opted for the five-star hotel restaurant or the gourmet wine and cheese pairing event, culinary travelers are more interested in the local food experiences often usually reserved for the middle and lower-middle class residents of the place travelers visit. Farmers markets, food stalls, food trucks, pubs, and other more native food venues represent a sense of time and place for today’s culinary traveler, who is more predisposed to these type of food experiences than those in the fine dining world. But authenticity is only one part of the equation. Culinary travelers also seek to explore the artistry, traditions, and heritage surrounding the food and beverages of a specific city, country, or region, as well as the people who create the food and drink of a certain place. Chefs, winemakers, brewers, farmers, and other artisans are held in high regard by today’s food tourist, and while the gourmet wine tasting might be a thing of the past, a behind-the-scenes demonstration of how the wine and cheese is actually produced is much more appealing to food tourists who desire to know more about the ingredients and processes of the end product.” - DCS - Bon Appetit: The Rise of the Culinary Traveler

Missoula’s food scene has always been strong, but with the introduction of new retail and restaurant space downtown and Midtown, Missoula is witnessing a cultural food movement. Missoula’s continued growth in this sector sets us up solidly as a food travel destination. From Missoula’s locally sourced restaurants to our food trucks, breweries, distilleries, cider house and wineries, Missoula has the unique experiences these travelers expect. Destination Missoula will market directly to this niche.

RETAIN TRANSIENT VISITORS

Approximately 3.1 million people pass through Missoula annually, but only 1.5 million spend one or more nights in the community. Destination Missoula will be producing marketing campaigns directed specifically to Canadian visitors and concentrating on park-to-park visitors. Destination Missoula will also be working on initiatives such as wayfinding to entice visitors off the highways and to stay at least one night. The Missoula Downtown Partnership was recently awarded grant funding from the Montana Department of Commerce which will be used to strategically place informational kiosks in downtown Missoula. Destination Missoula also recently produced new visitor center signage that coordinates and works within the wayfinding system and more easily identifies the visitor center location in the heart of downtown Missoula.

TOURISM MASTER PLAN

Destination Missoula and the Missoula Tourism Business Improvement District will spearhead a Tourism Master Planning process for Missoula and the surrounding area. Destination Missoula’s goal is to create a community wide discussion based on extensive research regarding tourism’s role in Missoula. The plan will assess infrastructure and management needs into the future so that the Missoula community has a roadmap to balance our resources and our quality of life with the economic resources provided by a healthy tourism economy. The plan will encompass partners across our community from city and county government, outdoor recreation interests, the University of Montana, the business community, economic development to bring awareness of the tourism industry and to help guide the final plan. Extensive research will be done with Missoula’s visitors and also Missoula’s residents to explore the role tourism plays in helping to sustain and advance Missoula’s community values and quality of life.

CHALLENGES

AIR ACCESS
Missoula air service expansion is limited by the terminal facilities. Missoula International Airport has begun work on a major facilities expansion. The facilities will grow from four gates to eight and will be easily expandable for future growth. It will be intuitive and efficient to navigate and will have all the amenities passengers desire in a modern terminal while still maintaining the uniqueness that one would expect from a Montana airport. Destination Missoula works closely in partnership with the Missoula International Airport to continually investigate and expand service and new direct flights into Missoula. The Missoula Tourism Business Improvement is also a major sponsor for flight guaranty funds to help initiate new direct flights. Towards this end, Destination Missoula is working in partnership with the Missoula International Airport, Missoula Economic Partnership and other private and public entities in Missoula to form a coalition of funding partners for new flights in order to remain competitive. That being said, until the terminal and gates are expanded, Missoula is limited in its ability to bring new airlines into the market. Destination Missoula will continue to concentrate on expanding seasonal flights to year-round in the routes that make sense.

SEASONALITY
Although Missoula has a more balanced annual visitation than most Montana cities, the vast majority is within the months of April through October, leaving an average of $21,700,379 (down from $20.99 million in 2018), in vacant room nights during the months of November through March. Since Missoula is not a major winter destination, Destination Missoula will continue to center marketing efforts to bolster Missoula’s shoulder seasons through group and tour travel, sporting and cultural events, and meetings and conventions. This marketing strategy is having an effect as Missoula’s annual occupancy numbers have risen from 55.8% seven years ago to 64.3% in 2018-19, an increase of 8.5%.

CLIMATE CONCERNS
Climate change has created unpredictable conditions for tourism, especially in the late spring and early summer seasons. It is hard to say if the river will flood and be too high for floating and fishing in June, or if the coloration will mimic the gorgeous summertime photos that are spread to inspire people to visit. The dry summers have created fire conditions that have impacted travel to Missoula in the past few years, with the summer of 2017 causing much more distressing circumstances than that of 2018. Regardless, the unpredictability caused by climate change is proving a challenge when advising visitors on travel timetables and plans. Winter sports are also impacted by climate change, as it is hard to determine if snowshoeing, cross country skiing, snowmobiling and downhill skiing are activities that can be conducted as late as once was the norm.

AIRBNB
Airbnbs and other short term rentals through private individuals have historically been a strain on organizations like Destination Missoula who rely on TBID and bed tax funding. However, even though Airbnbs are now required to pay the same taxes as hotels, they still create a strain to the community at large and to the traditional hotel industry that so much of Missoula tourism was built around. While having Airbnbs rental options is a benefit to attract younger travelers, Missoula has seen an increase in housing prices, including investments in second homes or rental-only homes, which has made it challenging for locals to obtain affordable housing. Airbnbs typically offer lower prices than hotels or group accommodations that hotels cannot compete with, and this reality is putting a strain on hotels and their employees.

LOW CONVERSION OF TRANSIENT TRAVEL
As mentioned in Opportunities, Missoula does not convert approximately 1.5 million transient travelers a year, who either drive through or stop shortly for gas and to eat but do not spend the night. It is difficult to pull them off the interstate. Destination Missoula will be continuing marketing campaigns directed specifically to Canadian visitors and concentrating on park-to-park visitors. Destination Missoula will also be working on initiatives such as wayfinding to entice pass-through visitors to stay at least one night. Even though the Canadian dollar is down, Missoula has had a very good response to the campaigns Destination Missoula did in Canada over the last year.

INTERNATIONAL TRAVEL
Although Destination Missoula, through our sales department, will continue to focus efforts on increasing and broadening our group and tour travel, it will definitely be another year of uncertainty in this sector. Given the current political policies and climate, and the unknown impacts, short and long term, of COVID-19 virus, it is unclear at this point how our international travel market will be affected. Working in cooperation with the Montana Office of Tourism and Business Development and Glacier Country Tourism, Destination Missoula will attend trade shows directly targeting these markets and looking to increase awareness of Missoula in international markets, specifically Canada, China and Western Europe. The United Kingdom remains the single largest destination for global long-travel and the third-largest destination for overall global travel, but our market share has declined considerably since 2015. After declining in 2016, total inbound travel to the U.S. grew by 0.7% in 2017 and 3.5% in 2018. Overseas travel grew by 2.0 percent in 2017 and 2.5% in 2018. Nevertheless, the U.S. continued to lose market share for a third straight year as global travel grew significantly faster. In 2018, the United States welcomed 80 million international visitors. These visitors stay on average 17.5 nights in the United States, visiting 1.4 states and spending approximately $4,200.

LACK OF TOURISM INFRASTRUCTURE
Although Missoula has many wonderful venues, in order to take the next step in growth, there is a need for infrastructure currently missing in the community. The largest indoor arena is owned by the University of Montana, and although they are willing and accommodating partners, the university’s schedule for the arena is paramount. Also, Missoula does not have one facility that can accommodate citywide conferences or conventions. In order to accommodate events of this size, Destination Missoula has to bid them out to a number of venues, which is not ideal to meeting and event planners.

TIMELINE OF IMPLEMENTATION AND FUNDING FOR WAYFINDING
Although the Missoula Wayfinding project is through the planning stages, the time needed for fundraising a million-dollar project and the staged implementation of the system means a full completion of the system may be many years down the road. Destination Missoula is working with city and county government and leading organizations across the city to implement our Wayfinding system in a well-thought-out phased approach that takes available funding sources and the visitor experience into consideration.

PARKING
With all of the new projects in downtown Missoula—especially new hotels and restaurants—and new employment opportunities, parking in downtown Missoula continues to be an issue until new parking facilities are built. Limited parking reduces access to the wonderful amenities that can be found in downtown Missoula. Luckily, Mountain Line bus does offer Park and Ride options for large events, providing much-needed access when parking is at its most limited.

ORGANIZATIONAL FUNDING
With constantly trying to find new and innovative ways to raise private funding, and the lingering uncertainty of bed tax funding, stable funding for Destination Missoula is always an issue and a priority. Destination Missoula, in partnership with other tourism industry organizations, works on a continual basis to educate Missoula and Montana legislators and citizens on the importance of tourism to a healthy state economy and to work towards preserving and enhancing bed tax funding. Destination Missoula also works in partnership with the Missoula Tourism Business Improvement District to expand and to create new private revenue sources for Destination Missoula. Destination Missoula was successful in expanding to full participation in TBID in 2019.

LACK OF COMMUNITY-WIDE STRATEGIC ORGANIZATION
Although Missoula is seeing progress in this realm, due to a lack of communication and a comprehensive event strategic plan, Missoula does not have cohesion and lacks strategic community organization of citywide events. It is difficult to maximize economic opportunities and enhance visitor experiences around events with the lack of cohesion. Destination Missoula is proud to have worked with the Missoula Chamber on a combined Visitor and Relocation guide since 2017 and hope this partnership serves as a model for continued community organization.

In the upcoming year, Destination Missoula and the Missoula Tourism Business Improvement District will begin an RFP process for a Tourism Master Plan for Missoula and the surrounding five valleys. It is the intention of the organizations to initiate research on both Missoula’s citizens and visitors to help us better understand the optimal balance between Missoula’s community and tourism. From that research and understanding and with community-wide input, Destination Missoula will create a vision and direction for tourism growth and infrastructure into the future, and how Destination Missoula’s organizations can guide that plan to fruition.

Describe your destination.

In order to convert a person from someone who may be interested in Missoula to an actual visitor to our destination, Destination Missoula must reach them at all three phases of the decision process—Inspiration, Orientation and Facilitation.

Destination Missoula will be following the state brand by using large iconic imagery and brand font in print and digital advertising, on the website and on social media. These images inspire people to visit Missoula and to see what is so utterly captivating and unique about it. Destination Missoula created the “There’s This Place…” campaign to enhance this concept.

Video is the new language of brand communication, especially in inspiring millennial and Generation Z travelers, and social media has consistently been on the rise as a form of information for visitors. For these reasons, Destination Missoula has focused our efforts on increased video and photography to use in promotional materials and on social media, and 2019 saw the introduction of branded Instagram stories and Pinterest posts, which allowed for increased clicks to destinationmissoula.org from these social media platforms.

Destination Missoula will implement a number of tools that will help orient to where Missoula is in the country, region and state. Destination Missoula’s unique official Missoula Area Visitor Guide gives people an overview of our community and what it has to offer, including maps, directions to our visitor centers, numbers to reach our call center, and our website, implemented an itinerary builder on our website. The website is responsive to all devices for ease of use. This gives the visitor the opportunity to plan ahead where they will stay, eat, what attractions and events they want to attend and what loop tours they can take from Missoula to enjoy what this area has to offer. Finally, by using the itinerary builder or taking advantage of easy access to the information they need to book their trip, including the ability to talk to a knowledgeable travel expert on the phone (either through the call center or in one of our VICs), or through the chat function of the website, Destination Missoula will help facilitate the final sale and a successful, memorable trip.

a. Define your target markets (demographic, geographic and psychographic).

TARGET MARKETS

GEOGRAPHIC
The strategy of targeting a particular type of traveler can be enhanced by also targeting a particular geographic area. It is most effective to market to those who are predisposed to come to this area.

Destination Missoula concentrates on more “niche” marketing, particularly direct flight and drive markets. Direct flight markets include Seattle, Salt Lake City, Las Vegas, Minneapolis, Chicago, Denver, Portland, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Oakland, Atlanta, Dallas and Phoenix. Destination Missoula also directs our outreach to our drive markets, which includes an approximate 200 – 300-mile radius from Missoula: Spokane, Washington; Coeur d’Alene, Sandpoint, Lewiston, Boise, Salmon and Idaho Falls, Idaho; and Yellowstone Park, Bozeman, Butte, Great Falls, Glacier National Park, Kalispell, Montana; and Alberta, Canada.

To ensure the most effective use of marketing funds and energies, markets will be pursued in the following order:

- The secondary states from which most inquiries come: Colorado, Georgia, Arizona, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Carolina, DEMOGRAPHIC

In addition to the geographic target markets, there are four primary demographic markets Destination Missoula will target with tourism promotion and marketing. Each of these markets represents a strong and growing segment of the tourism marketplace. Destination Missoula will pay particular attention through this marketing plan to niche marketing for small and mid-size market meetings, sporting events, signature events, arts and culture, music and entertainment, food and spirits, leisure and family travel. The average visitor to Missoula is 58 years of age with an income of $100,000 – $150,000 and 70% are either traveling alone or as a couple. Groups of 1 – 3 travelers represent 88% of Missoula visitors, and family travel is heaviest during the summer months. The demographic markets are described on the following page.

INDIVIDUAL TRAVELERS

This group includes people traveling alone, adults traveling in small groups, and families. While these travelers may have taken advantage of a travel planner or the internet to facilitate their trip, they do not travel with a group and can be easily accommodated in one or two rooms and at any restaurant. Individual travelers come from all demographics. It is most important for Destination Missoula to concentrate its marketing efforts on the following:

- Active empty-nesters
- Baby boomers
- Business travelers
- Cultural and historical-experience travelers
- Family travel
- Leisure travelers
- Outdoor enthusiasts
- Motorcyclists
- Recreational vehicle travelers
- Women
- Geo-travelers
- Multigenerational travelers
- Culinary and spirits travelers
- LGBTQ travelers
- Adaptive travelers
- Music, concert and festival travelers
- Birders
- Sustainability travelers
- Wellness travelers

SPORTS TRAVELERS

The North American sports market totaled $71.1 billion in 2018 and is projected to grow 3.2% annually, reaching $83.1 billion in 2023. More than 150 million people attended professional sporting events. In 2018, sports travel made up 8% of the total domestic travel market, resulting in 190 million domestic trips to attend or participate in a sporting event. On average, sports travelers spend 3.9 nights in a destination and consists of 3.2 people. Nearly half of sports travelers bring their children, 10% are first-time visitors, and one-quarter of them included a flight on their travels. Domestic travelers attending or participating in a sporting event spent $41 billion in 2018.

Youth sports has become a very large segment of the sports industry. It is estimated that it generates $9 billion and is growing by up to 20% annually. The Youth Sports industry provides travel to Missoula from drive markets. Since Missoula is a regional hub for shopping and dining, many families can be inspired to use their youth sports trip to spend time in Missoula. Fort Missoula Regional Park, Glacier Ice Rink and the University of Montana sports facilities are exceptional venues to host youth soccer, baseball and softball, volleyball, football, hockey and more.

During the 2018-19 fiscal year, Missoula saw $607,769 in economic impact from 3 sporting events that received grant funding from the Missoula TBID Event Grant Fund. In addition, Destination Missoula's sales staff attended 4 sports trade shows and made 168 sport event planner contacts. The sports market segment generated 18 group sports leads, totalling 11,022 potential room nights for the city.

Demographics are as follows:

- Primarily male, 18 – 54 years old, and strong internet users.
- Gender – 68% male, 32% female.
84% of all sport event travelers are spectators.

Sports travelers tend to be affluent, college educated.

Sports travelers are long-term travelers, travelling long into retirement.

Willing to travel long distances, spending more time and money at destination.

58% of sports travelers will return to destination on family leisure trip.

GROUP TRAVELERS AND EVENT RECRUITMENT

Group travelers are looking toward small communities to provide the homey atmosphere, which implies safety and personal care. They want a high-touch experience in a high-tech world. To get what they want, they personally spend more in an area than individual travelers, and 43% – 60% of their total package cost stays in the destination’s economy. Niche markets that Missoula will be specifically targeting in group travel are motorcoach recruitment, motorcycle rallies, bicycle races and new-event recruitment. During the 2018-19 fiscal year, Missoula saw $116,312 in economic impact from 3 meetings and specialty events that received grant funding from the Missoula TBID Event Grant Fund. Destination Missoula’s sales staff attended 4 meetings and convention trade shows and made 158 meeting planner contacts. In addition, Missoula hosted one meeting planner FAM with four meeting planners from across the country who generate several hundred RFPs annually. The meeting and conventions market segment generated 22 meeting and convention leads, totaling 9,770 potential room nights for the city.

MEETINGS AND CONVENTIONS

Missoula enjoys the distinction of having urban amenities close to those outdoor opportunities a visitor would expect to find in a resort setting. This combination of attractive features gives Missoula an advantage over strictly urban or strictly resort settings.

Meetings have many of the same needs as group gatherings and produce similar economic benefit to an area. Missoula is very well suited for small to large meetings where ideas are inspired by nature and nurtured by unexpected sophistication, and where hospitality, technology and amenities are top notch. This small town has big offerings delivered by Missoula’s service industry, which is second to none in terms of professionalism and warm hospitality. Missoula lets people come together in a world-class meeting place for corporate events, retreats, conferences and conventions. With the addition of new airline service and larger aircraft with additional seats coming into Missoula, the competition naturally decreases prices and Missoula becomes a more competitive flight destination, which will increase Missoula’s ability to compete with other markets for large meeting and convention travel.

Destination Missoula’s meetings and conventions websites[missoulameetings.com][15]— This website gives meeting planners the ability to research our amenities and services and to submit rfp’s online. Destination Missoula feel that a targeted print and online campaign is one of the most cost-effective means of reaching our target audience this year. This niche marketing will target industry-specific associations in our drive and direct fly markets, such as Spokane, Seattle, Portland, Minneapolis, Chicago and Dallas. Since Montana as a whole does not have a large presence at the meeting and convention shows, it is hard to make an impact against states and destinations that do have a large presence and offer better pricing. Through a print, online and social media campaign, plus attendance at specific trade shows, Destination Missoula can work with niche markets spreading what is unique about Missoula and the surrounding area that makes it worth the extra expense to hold a meeting here.

During the 2018-19 fiscal year, Missoula saw $724,081 in economic impact from 6 sporting, meeting and specialty events that received grants from the Missoula TBID Event Grant Program. In addition, Destination Missoula staff attended 11 trade shows and made 793 contacts across all market segments. Overall, Destination Missoula’s sales staff generated 60 leads across all market segments, totaling 20,792 potential room nights for Missoula.

b. What are your emerging markets?

EMERGING MARKETS

The following areas are emerging tourism markets that Destination Missoula feels are a perfect fit for Missoula, and our marketing will be directly tailored to them:

WELLNESS TRAVEL

The Global Wellness Institute estimates tourism grew into a $639 billion market in 2017, and that number only stands to rise. World travelers made 830 million wellness trips in 2017, 139 million more than in 215, according to the Global Wellness Institute. It used to be that food created the buzz that makes a destination a hot spot, but now the consumer has shifted and travel is made for an experience that is tailored to them:

It used to be that food created the buzz that makes a destination a hot spot, but now the consumer has shifted and travel is made for an experience that is tailored to them:

MUSIC AND ENTERTAINMENT

More than 32 million people in the U.S. travel to attend at least one music festival per year. Of those 32 million, 14.7 million are millennials. Missoula’s burgeoning music and entertainment scene is the perfect fit for this niche market. With Nationally acclaimed venues such as The Top Hat and The Wilma Theatre, their sound systems, and the addition of two new amphitheaters, and Ogren Park at Allegiance fields Missoula, with its enthusiastic audiences comprised of people as far away as Portland, is going to see the music scene explode over the next few years. Destination Missoula is actively partnering with music venues to market to music writers and media to bring them to Missoula for a full experience. Destination Missoula designed and launched a new music website for Missoula—missoula.live—to give people a comprehensive view of the music and entertainment experiences that Missoula offers. Destination Missoula also launched a major print and digital music campaign throughout drive and direct flight markets.
Pollstar named Missoula’s Logjam Presents as #95 on their list of Top 100 World-Wide Promoters, with The Wilma taking #49 and on their list of Top 100 Clubs. Additionally, the KettleHouse Amphitheater landed #71 in their rankings of the Top 100 Outdoor Amphitheaters.

FLIGHT MARKETS

Missoula International Airport had another record-setting year in 2019. Missoula is serviced by six airlines and 13 nonstop destinations, which makes it comparable to much larger cities. It is anticipated that in 2020 will be another record breaking year. Bringing American Airlines into the Missoula market created $14 million in ticket price savings during 2018/2019. As Missoula is constantly looking for opportunities to bring new service into Missoula, it is vitally important that Destination Missoula markets to any new service areas, as well as our existing direct flight markets to make sure our existing flights remain viable and service only continues to expand. With the $10,000,000 airport expansion, additional gates, increased capacity, and passenger amenities, Missoula will only continue to grow as a destination for travelers.

CULINARY

We currently see 39 million travelers identify themselves as culinary travelers. Annually, they created a $201 billion economic impact. On average, they spend $1,194 per trip with up to 50% spent directly on food and food-related activities. It is currently one of the fastest-growing sectors in tourism worldwide.

They tend to be younger, more affluent and better educated traveler. Millennials, having become the largest traveling demographic in the U.S., list culinary experiences as very important. They feel it is the best way to get to “know the story” of a place. Trends are moving from the most expensive dining experience to the most authentic. The culinary traveler is looking for a unique experience and likes packages based around cooking classes, farmers markets, gourmet food shopping, winery, brewery and distillery tours and festivals. Culinary travelers tend to plan ahead using both print and online media sources. With Missoula’s exciting and varied food scene from fine dining and cafes, to farm-to-table sustainability, food trucks, breweries, wineries and distilleries, culinary tourism is a perfect niche. Destination Missoula advertised twice in Food and Travel Magazine in their Tasteful Towns and Outdoor Getaways feature issues. These placements included a full page ad plus a full page of advertorial to showcase some of the great restaurants in Missoula. There were also social and digital components and Destination Missoula was featured on their homepage for 90 days and featured in their newsletter. The Outdoors Getaways also included the promotion of a 30-second video on their social and web outlets. This unique opportunity gave Missoula’s unique food scene some great exposure, Destination Missoula will be looking for more opportunities to reach travelers in FY21.

Food and travel will have a major focus in the digital magazine and those features will be incorporated into Destination Missoula’s social and digital message. Exposure to the food scene will also be a priority when bringing in press writers.

CANADIAN TRAVEL

In 2018, it was estimated that Canadian visitors made up 10% (1,366,000) of all nonresident travelers to the state. Of those travelers, 45% were primarily “just passing through,” 37% were in Montana for “vacation, recreation, or pleasure,” and 9% were primarily in the state for “shopping.” One of the more striking overall trends in Canadian visitation to Montana is the decrease in not only the number of Canadian residents visiting Montana, but also their reported spending. In 2013, ITRR estimated that 1.6 million Canadians visited Montana, spending an estimated $306 million in the process. By 2018, estimates for the number of Canadian visitors dropped to 1.34 million, with expenditure estimates being cut almost in half at roughly $155 million. The most visited region was Glacier Country with 71% of respondents having been there on a previous visit. When asked what would increase their likelihood to return to Montana, visitors said more information on new and different things to do, a wider range of retail shopping opportunities, increased opportunities to experience local cuisine and more opportunities to experience cultural heritage. Missoula has the ability to provide all of these experiences for Canadian travelers. Destination Missoula will continue to market to Canada for regional drive events and contests and continues to see success attending the Calgary Outdoor Adventure and Travel Show annually.

LGBTQ+

LGBTQ+ travel is a $211 billion industry in the U.S. These travelers average seven trips annually, four leisure and three business. Their average age is 48 with a household income of $50,000 and up. They prefer mid-range hotels that understand their needs, and they tend to return to areas they feel do the best job of outreach and are safe and relaxing. LGBTQ+ travelers look for culture, arts, food and wine, rest and relaxation, and nature is important to women. Of the 17 top cities they tend to visit, Missoula has direct flights into nine, and given the current political climate, Missoula’s open and welcoming environment and status as a cultural hub make it a safe place for LGBTQ+ people to visit. The Missoula Art Museum’s rainbow crosswalk across Pine street serves as a symbol of Missoula’s diversity and openness to various identities.

YOUTH SPORTS – SPORTS AND EVENTS

The youth sports travel sector is now a $17 billion travel industry. The youth sports industry in the U.S. has ballooned to a $15.3 billion business. There has been more than 55% growth since 2010. It is estimated that more than 48.9 million kids between the ages of 5 and 18 currently play at least one organized sport each year in the U.S. and 21 million are involved in non-school youth sports. The average youth athlete plays 2.5 sports. Youth sports also generate family and multigenerational travel. 41% of children with a household income of $100,000 or more participate in team sports and 19% of children with household incomes of $25,000 or less participate. American families spent an average of $3,167 per player/per sport on the road for what are now being called “tournaments.” Missoula continues to see success in our Youth Sports Events market thanks to partners like the Montana High School Association, Missoula Youth Hockey Association and Fort Missoula Regional Park.

MOTORCYCLE

Motorcycle travel is one of the fastest growing segments in tourism. It is a $34 billion industry with over 11 million riders. The demographic trend has been older and more affluent as more baby boomer professionals become interested in motorcycle travel. The average HHI is $85,000+ with 84% having attended college and 16% with postgraduate degrees. However, now you are starting to see more millennial riders. Women are becoming the fastest growing segment. Gen X women are three times more likely to own and regularly ride their bikes, and women motorcycle tour businesses are starting to thrive. An average trip lasts 10–14 days, spending $3,100 per trip. They also love to attend related events averaging three events per year spending an average of $400 per weekend event attended.

A 2019 study released by the Institute of Tourism and Recreation Research, states that in 2018 393,800 nonresident motorcyclists visited the state. They spent approximately $110/day and stayed an average of 2.45 nights. Total spending in quarters 2 and 3 of 2018 by nonresident motorcyclists was $80,030,000. Ten percent of all visitors enter Montana on motorcycles and 4% spend one or more nights in Missoula.

Missoula is on a major route for riders coming from the West Coast and those wanting to see Glacier National Park. Destination Missoula will be doing specific niche marketing and website itineraries to market to these riders. More specifically, Missoula will be targeting women motorcycle riders. Destination Missoula is also seeing more interest from international tour operators in motorcycle itineraries for their clients and will create specific itineraries scoped to this market.
INTERNATIONAL

After declining in 2016, total inbound travel to the U.S. grew by 0.7% in 2017 and 3.5% in 2018. Overseas travel grew by 2.0% in 2017 and 2.5% in 2018. Nevertheless, the U.S. continued to lose market share for a third straight year as global travel grew significantly faster. The United States remains the single largest destination for global long-haul travel and the third-largest destination for overall travel, but our market share has declined considerably since 2015 - down 6.4% and 13.7% respectively. Each overseas traveler spends approximately $4,200 and stays on average 18 nights. Approximately 80 million international travelers arrived in the U.S. in 2018. The top international markets were Canada (20.2 million); Mexico (17.8 million); United Kingdom (4.5 million); Japan (3.6 million); China (3.2 million); South Korea (2.3 million); Germany (2.1 million); Brazil (1.9 million); France (1.7 million) and Australia (1.3 million), and the top leisure travel activities for overseas visitors are shopping, sightseeing, fine dining, national parks/monuments, and amusement/theme parks. At the time of writing this Marketing Plan, political factors and impacts of COVID19 make it almost impossible to forecast the impact for international travel this year.

UNIVERSITY OF MONTANA FAMILY AND RECRUITS

The University of Montana is located in Missoula. The university is comprised of students from all over the state, region and country, meaning prospective students and their families will visit Missoula when touring campus. During this time, students will have the opportunity to fall in love with Missoula as a place to live as well as attend school. Once accepted, student families will continue to visit Missoula for events, sports, graduation and general visits. This is a huge benefit to Missoula as it allows a constant influx of visitors. What is more, once these students graduate, many might choose to live in Missoula. Those who do relocate will come back to their old college stomping grounds for decades to come. Destination Missoula is working with the University of Montana to help recruiting efforts by promoting Missoula as a place of great diversity of ideas, as a cultural haven in Montana and in the region, and as a welcoming and safe community for locals and visitors alike.

SUSTAINABILITY

These travelers tend to be highly educated, mature, affluent, well-traveled, environmentally aware and sensitive to the social and cultural traditions, systems and mores of the destination they visit. They are similar to, and in many cases crossover with, the culinary traveler. Missoula is proud of the many sustainable initiatives that show our commitment to living our values. For example, Logjam Presents has implemented a Zero Waste policy at their venues with compostable cups, plates and cutlery and recycle cans with readily available bins. Mountain Line has introduced six zero-emissions electric buses to their fleet in the summer of 2019.

The Big Sky Documentary Film Festival is striving to be a Zero-Waste event by providing recycling and composting stations at all of their venues, limiting food vendors to those who provide recyclable and compostable silverware, promoting reuse by distributing reusable cups to guests and making the festival walking-friendly. The River City Roots Festival has taken on a similar goal by also providing compost and recycle stations, limiting food vendors, providing reusable cups in the place of single-use plastics and housing the events in a walkable zone. Both the City of Missoula and Missoula County have also recently committed an initiative for 100% clean electricity by 2030.

Logjam Presents began using compostable materials at all their concert venues in 2018, including cups, utensils and plates at KettleHouse Amphitheater and at the Wilma and Top Hat. Additionally, composting bins for food scraps can also be found, and recycling is prioritized at these venues.

BIRDING

It is estimated that approximately 45 million people in the U.S. are bird-watchers. According to an analysis done by The American Birding Expo, birders in the U.S. spend approximately $14.8 billion on travel-related expenses, and the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service states that the higher the income and education level, the more likely a person is to be a birder. According to a 2016 National Survey of Fishing, Hunting and Wildlife Associated Recreation produced by the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service, birders contribute more than $75 billion to the U.S. economy. A 2011 survey showed that bird-watchers spend nearly $41 billion annually on trips and equipment and that local economies benefit from the $14.9 billion bird-watchers spend on food, lodging and transportation. U.S. bird-watchers are usually highly educated, affluent, slightly more women (56%), usually travel solo or with a partner, but not large groups, and, although made up of all age groups, middle-aged and elderly people represent the largest group (40 – 70). They usually will spend 13 –14 days birding away from home.

Situated along pristine rivers offering exceptional riparian zones, Missoula and the Bitterroot Valley are brimming with numerous habitats and a wide variety of bird species. Both areas are havens for bird-watchers. Three of the best known spots in the area are Kelly Island, a 650-acre conservation area comprised of six islands at the confluence of the Bitterroot and Clark Fork rivers; Lee Metcalf National Wildlife Refuge, a 2,700-acre refuge with more than 225 identified species; and the 1,200-acre Telluride Wildlife Refuge. Destination Missoula is going to advertise in the July/August issue of Bird Watcher's Digest where they will be featuring Montana in the print and digital section.

HISTORY AND CULTURE

Missoula proudly lives our history. Evidence of the prehistoric ice age floods and Glacial Lake Missoula are still etched on the mountains surrounding Missoula. The indigenous peoples of the Missoula Valley were members of the Salish Tribes. Over the centuries, Salish, Kootenai, Pend d'Oreille, Nez Perce, Gros Ventre and the Blackfoot Tribes used the Missoula Valley as a travel route to the eastern plains and buffalo. They called the area "Nemissiscolatakok," from which "Missoula" is derived. The word translates roughly to "river of ambush/surprise," a reflection of the inter-tribal fighting common to the area. Their first encounter with non-natives came in 1805, when the Lewis and Clark expedition passed through the Missoula Valley. Missoula and the surrounding five valleys' rich history comes alive in places like Travelers' Rest State Park and the Historical Museum at Fort Missoula. Missoula is full of ways to become immersed in the history and culture - from historic downtown tours, river walks and tours of the Missoula Smokejumper’s Center to walking portions of the Lewis and Clark trail, enjoying traditional pow wows and sharing meals from the many diverse cultures that have since made this special place home. Currently, the Downtown Missoula Partnership, has partnered with Historical Associates, the city's Historic Preservation Commission and the Historical Museum at Fort Missoula to produce a vision for a comprehensive heritage program in downtown Missoula, including both banks of the Clark Fork River. There are few, if any, communities the size of Missoula that have developed a defined heritage interpretive plan, and it could act as a prototype for other Montana towns to use. The Montana Natural History Center serves as a fantastic spot to learn about the biodiversity of Western Montana, including full-scale replicas and mounts of local animals like bears, mountain lions and ungulate species. Visitors can learn about the history, legacy and modern traditions of the American Indian tribes who call this area their ancestral home at places like the Payne Family Native American Center, which is the site of a a historic Salish Indian encampment, the Native American Studies building on the University of Montana campus and the People's Center north of town.
