Community & Brand Support

Describe your destination (who you are, who you wish to attract and why would they come) addressing your strengths, opportunities, and potential challenges. How does your destination align with Montana's brand pillars?

The City of Livingston combines small town rustic charm and world class amenities with a twist of historic quirkiness. Our town of under 8,000 residents is rich with distinctive cultures; a colorful railroad history, the original gateway to Yellowstone, fly fishing mecca, historically picturesque and preserved downtown with vintage neon signs, more artists and writers per capita than anywhere in the state, ranch supply hub, eclectic boutiques, relaxed hospitality, a thriving theatre community, enthusiastic recreationists and a restaurant and bar scene that serves all tastes from robust to refined. Food writer Anthony Bourdain boasted of his love affair with Livingston and named our historic Murray Hotel among the top ten in the world, Jimmy Buffett celebrates Livingston in multiple songs, our town's been the setting of myriad books and poems, and the New York Times and Architectural Digest recently highlighted Livingston as one of the best places to live and recreate. While Livingston is a magnet for travelers and recreationists from around the world, it is notably the favorite getaway spot for Montanans and folks from around the region who relish the town's casual authenticity, lack of pretense or traffic, genuine small business service and easy access to wild places, fine arts and celebrated cuisine. Many Montanans will tell you Livingston is one of the last "West" places that has retained all of what they love about the state.

This small railroad and ranching town was founded in conjunction with the Northern Pacific Railway in the late 1800s. The historic downtown area is anchored by beautiful brick architectural structures – our Livingston Depot was engineered by the same group that designed New York City's Grand Central Station – and these storied buildings are home to diverse and distinctive small businesses. Livingston retains the visual appeal of an old Western movie set as over three quarters of our preserved structures are listed on the National Register of Historic Places, a testament to both their original construction and the values of today's residents. Livingston is an epicenter of culture and outdoor exploration and our strongest cross-cultural touchstone is our location on the banks of the Yellowstone River. Livingston has a strong slate of events, both long-established and newer, that attract so many visitors, that the town's population is nearly doubled during certain events. Our famed three-day 4th of July PRCA Rodeo, parade and fireworks are both legendary and nostalgic, the Hoot live music on Main Street festival features world-class musicians, summer Art Walks bring folks from miles around to our many galleries and our weekly summer Farmers Market and Livingston Film Festival are appealing to locals and visitors alike. This past October, Livingston competed against thousands of other communities across the nation to win a spot as a top ten town contender, the first time a Montana town has done so, to be featured in Season Five of Deluxe Corporation's Small Business Revolution (SBR) television show; in early 2020, Livingston was selected as one of the top five towns in the nation. Although not ultimately the number one selection (based on popular vote against four other larger communities across the US), Livingston residents, fans and small businesses worked together in an unprecedented effort that has strengthened our cooperation and collaboration as a community.

The Livingston area has been a popular destination for a wide range of visitors for over a century. Due to our preserved downtown and magnificent natural surroundings, Livingston is a popular movie location; Rancho Deluxe, A River Runs Through It, The Horse Whisperer, and Walking Out, among them. When renowned actors, writers, and artists work and play in Livingston, they tend to put down roots and actors Peter Fonda, Margot Kidder, Whoopi Goldberg, Jeff Bridges, Michael Keaton and Saturday Night Live alumnus Rich Hall, musicians Ron Strykert and John Mayer and novelists Walter Kirn, Thomas McGuane and Jim Harrison have all called Livingston home. What makes Livingston uniquely appealing to so many is its abundance of gorgeous scenery, rich arts culture, vibrant nightlife, diverse dining experiences, exceptional theater productions, laid back lifestyle and history replete with colorful characters. Downtown Livingston shopping is a delight with owner-operated small businesses in historic spaces and include over a dozen art galleries, vintage and antique stores, Western and contemporary fashion, bookstores, home goods, gift shops, boutiques with hand-crafted goods, day spas and there's a place on every block to grab a delicious bite to eat.

Livingston is the county seat of Park County and is situated in the middle of four stunning mountain ranges (Absaroka Beartooth Mountains, Crazy Mountains, Bangtail Mountains and the Bridger Mountains), is nestled along Yellowstone River - the longest, free-flowing river in the lower 48 states, offers an incredible array of outdoor recreation opportunities and has preserved one of Montana's most eclectic and historic downtowns. Over 4 million visitors travel each year to our nation's first national park - Yellowstone National Park (YNP) - and Park County includes two of the five entrances. Livingston is the original and only year-round entrance into the Park, making our gateway appealing in all seasons. While Livingston has the small Mission Field Airport to service smaller planes and personal jets, it is situated just 40 minutes from Montana's largest international airport – Bozeman Yellowstone International Airport.

To know Livingston is to love it and its many unique charms could – and have – filled volumes. A few of our unmatched strengths include:

- We are the original and only year-round entrance to one of the top five visited, and our nation's first national park - Yellowstone National Park.
- We are situated in one of the most sought-after areas in Montana for great outdoors experiences. We are the jumping off point for unbeatable natural resources and year round recreation activities in every direction, including day and backcountry hiking, biking, fly fishing, swimming and hot springs soaks, hunting, stand up paddle boarding, kayaking, whitewater rafting, floating, trail running, cross country and back country skiing, downhill skiing, snowshoeing, camping, snowmobiling, rock climbing, horseback riding, agate and rock hunting, bird and wildlife watching and berry and mushroom picking.
- We have ski resorts in close proximity (based on "Montana standards of proximity") - one within 45 minutes and three resorts within two hours. Within a half hour to two hours via gorgeous drives to eight different state parks abundant with trails, activities, interpretative visitor services and water-based activities and within 5 minutes to one hour of 14 FWP fishing access sites. We're in the heart of world-renowned wildlife migration patterns and blue-ribbon fishing.
- We are one half hour away from Montana's public land-grant research universities – Go Bobcats! It is the state's largest university and offers baccalaureate degrees in 51 fields, master's degrees in 41 fields and doctoral degrees in 18 fields through its nine colleges. Livingston is the chosen home for many University staff.
- We are home to the first Crow Tribe Agency – Fort Parker. The U.S. government established Fort Parker in 1869 to provide the annuity goods — flour, sugar, coffee, etc. — promised to the tribe in the Fort Laramie Treaty of 1868 in exchange for the tribe relinquishing claim to lands outside the boundaries of the reservation defined in the treaty.
- While Livingston has a small airport (for planes and small jets), it is situated just 40 minutes from Montana's largest international airport – Bozeman Yellowstone International Airport - which handled 1,573,860 passengers in 2019. This is an increase of 231,570 passengers (17.3%) compared to 2018 and is the tenth consecutive year of record-breaking passenger traffic.
- Major roadways leading to and around Livingston including 39 miles of Interstate 90 and almost 100 miles of US Highway 89 providing north/south and east/west connections in the southcentral region of Montana. Most of these roadways do not have heavy traffic and all have stunning views.
- We are situated within one-half hour to three hours of larger cities including Bozeman, Billings, Great Falls and Missoula. We are a little over an hour and a half from the stunning Tippet Rise Art Center, winner of a Leading Cultural Destination Award among their accolades.
- We are home to a long stretch of the most famous blue-ribbon trout stream in America – the Yellowstone River. Because of its ideal location and miles of Yellowstone River and many tributaries, Livingston has become a fly fishing mecca. This best kept secret was exposed when the 1992 Robert Redford movie "A River Runs Through It" triggered a fly fishing frenzy across the nation. Several major scenes in the movie were filmed in Livingston and in nearby Paradise Valley. As the popularity of fly fishing grew, so did fly fishing tourism in and around Livingston (as well as the entire state of Montana), and it hasn't slowed down since.
- We are one of the original destination cities in the Montana Link of the National Park-to-Park Highway of the original Y/G B-Line (route from Yellowstone to Glacier).
- We are the host of the Montana PRCA Roundup Rodeo (est. 1925), a three-day premier rodeo event, attracting sell-out crowds and the best PRCA cowboys and cowgirls in the country. The event also draws many to the nostalgic parade and nightly fireworks displays following the Rodeo.
- We are home to Livingston HealthCare – recently relocated and constructed in 2015, a not-for-profit 25-bed critical access hospital and a multispecialty physician practice and also offering rehabilitation services and home-based services (named one of Best Rural Hospitals in U.S. for fourth consecutive year in 2019) and a fantastic field to table restaurant and adjacent hiking paths. The hospital also displays dozens of local artists' works including 11 large Russell Chatham paintings in public access areas.
- We are lucky to have the Livingston Food Resource Center which expanded in 2015 with a commercial kitchen, community meeting space and recently opened a bakery on the block that supplies bread to all food pantries in Montana using Montana-sourced organic whole grains. The Center also provides culinary training programs, commercial prep space for food entrepreneurs and meals for school kids, families and seniors in need, in addition to access to weekly food supplies.
- We are home to the Shane Lalani Center for the Arts which is a thriving theatre company in an historic brick school, mounting top-notch community theatre productions, classes, educational outreach programming for area schools and the Young Actors' Workshop each August. In addition, the Shane Center offers access to a variety of short and long-term rental spaces available for a wide range of artistic endeavors and community events and houses a popular café. The center is home to the Dulcie Theatre, a 165-seat auditorium; a ballroom with attached catering space; the Mike and Eve Art Rehearsal Hall and the Movement Room, all available for public use.
- We are a community blessed with many philanthropic and collaborative community stakeholder groups including the Park County Community Foundation, AMB West, Park County Environmental Council, MSU Extension, Farm 2 School, Park Local Development Corporation, and Montana Main Street Program.
- We host the Livingston Hoot – a one day free, family-friendly festival bringing fun, food and music to historic downtown Livingston that takes place in August on Main Street in historic downtown Livingston and is coordinated by a former Sony Music and Nashville producer able to book

- big names; including Vince Gill, John Mayer and Rodney Crowell, among others.
- We offer other entertainment, theatre and nightlife locales including in town and area venues of the Music Ranch, the Blue Slipper Theatre, Pine Creek Café and the beautifully restored Attic on Main Street. Livingston is also legendary for our bar scene and each one can transport you to a different era, segment of the population and culture but you'll find a warm welcome and generous pour where ever you land.
- We have great museums including: 1) the Historic Livingston Depot Museum - once the center of railroad activity of visitors coming to or leaving Yellowstone National Park, this historic brick building is now home to a fantastic railroad museum that is open from May through September; 2) the Yellowstone Gateway Museum lays out the colorful history of Livingston, including one of the oldest archaeological sites in North America, to the fascinating Wild West Days which included Calamity Jane who lived in Livingston for 20 years; the museum also captures the history of Yellowstone National Park and unfolds the significance of Livingston as a gateway community to the world's oldest and most famous national park; and, 3) International Federation of Fly Fishing Museum that preserves fly fishing and its resources for all fish in all waters through education and conservation. Soon, the Danforth Museum of Art will join our collection of museums, in historic downtown.
- We are part of the Livingston Business Improvement District (LBID) - the entity that enhances the vitality of downtown Livingston by facilitating commerce, enhancing streetscapes, conducting maintenance and improving security and safety. The LBID is responsible for lush hanging flower baskets (summer), dozens of banner promotions (year-round), graffiti removal and garbage removal; supports local events; and, champions downtown businesses and projects. LBID was the driving force in submitting an application to the Deluxe Corporation Small Business Revolution and guided the show's producers in downtown tours when they visited the area in December 2019.
- We are also part of the new Livingston Tourism Business Improvement District (TBID) which was recently formed to generate room nights for lodging facilities in the City of Livingston by effectively marketing our region as a preferred and repeat year-round travel destination.
- We are part of an energized community and committed City and County commissioners and stakeholder groups work together and continue to develop creative ways to collaborate and coordinate.
- We are a diverse and renowned arts and culture community, including writers, poets, artists, photographers, filmmakers, musicians and actors are highlighted with regular book readings, art walks, exhibits, performances and special events year-round.
- Livingston is home to the brand-new Fairfield by Marriott set to open in July 2020 with 90 rooms and maximum capacity for up to 280 guests. Livingston is home to another half dozen hotels, the popular and historic Murray hotel downtown, numerous bed and breakfast venues and abundant short-term rental properties ranging from vintage apartments to luxurious river-side estates. Chico Hot Springs, Sage Lodge and Yellowstone Valley Grill and Lodge are all popular destinations and just a beautiful half hour drive into the Paradise Valley.
- We offer many other multiple year-round, seasonal or annual events including the Farmers Market (every Wednesday from June 1 – Sept. 15), Night Owl Run, Holiday Stroll, Park County Fair, Professional Bull Riders Event, Tap Into MT Brewfest, Annual Gun Show, Livingston Wheels Car Show and Creek to Peak Mountain Soap Box Derby.
- We have free public transit system - Windrider fixed route transit system transports citizens and visitors within the city limits with 113 stops, five days a week from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m.
- Livingston is increasingly a foodie and farm to table hub with access to local produce and goods at several healthy food markets, delis, restaurants and bakeries; we boast a chocolatier, gourmet cheese shop and wine bar, two microbreweries and abundant coffee shops. Our popular restaurants range from old-school steakhouse to French bistro to sushi.

Opportunities that Livingston might consider for future economic expansion include:

- Recent designation as a Main Street America town.
- Unlike recent decades, now most store fronts in historic downtown are occupied and there is increased interest in renovating upper floors for residential and commercial office spaces.
- Business partnerships and collaboration with local businesses recommending and referring business to each other's businesses.
- Leveraging the per-capital wealth of local talent for more arts festivals, events and features.

Potential challenges that Livingston faces include:

- The WIND! The prize for the windiest city in Montana goes to Livingston, where the average wind speed as measured at the airport is 15.2 mph, more than 3 mph windier than Great Falls. Livingston is known for its severe crosswinds that frequently shutdown Interstate 90, sometimes on a weekly occurrence during the winter. However, the wind is also one of the likely reasons Livingston has stayed small and not as developed as neighboring Bozeman, retaining our small-town charm that appeals to so many.
- The perception that Livingston is a gateway into Yellowstone National Park and not a destination to spend more time in before or after visiting the Park.
- COVID19 related issues (and future issues) that will reduce visitation to the area, may lead to some small business closures and fewer funds in local and state government infrastructure reserves.
- Largely seasonal visitation patterns with most tourist traffic occurring in July and August, and the shoulder seasons of May and June and September. Businesses must budget strategically for lean months.
- National and world events including terrorism, infectious diseases, climate change (effecting water temps on our much loved and over-fished Yellowstone River) and natural disasters (floods and wildfires) that impact tourism.
- Increasing use of local housing as short term rentals in Park County has made affordable housing a challenge for those working in the service and tourism industries. It also distorts the occupancy and average daily room rates at traditional lodging properties.
- Managing greater numbers of visitors and traffic flow negatively impacts County and City infrastructure. In 2019, another local option tax was introduced to the Montana Legislature, which would have allowed citizens to decide whether to impose a sales tax in Park County in order to pay for specific projects. The legislation would have given power to local voters, stressing it could be a way to lower local property taxes and raise more money from tourists who use local infrastructure but do not financially support it.
- There is no convention center in Livingston, or in Park County, to bring visitors to the area, create and sustain jobs, and generate direct and indirect spending and increase tax revenue.
- Lack of public transportation to and through YNP and increased tourist traffic to and through the Park.

With 58% of the land base in our County shared with Yellowstone National Park, Custer Gallatin National Forest, the Absaroka Beartooth Wilderness and other state land management agencies, Livingston and the surrounding areas offer more spectacular and pristine environments and landscape than anywhere else in the State of Montana. As the original and only year-round entrance into the nation's first national park – which is also consistently ranked in the top 5 most popular national parks - and situated 10 minutes to 45 minutes away from eight state parks, fourteen fishing access sites and several dozen trailheads, Livingston offers visitors many different ways to experience our unspoiled nature. As a gateway community, Livingston provides visitors with an appealing and unique mix of gift shops, dining experiences, coffee shops and bakeries, art galleries, museums, live theatre performances, music venues, parks and trails and friendly residents. Livingston has eight motels (and a new Fairfield Inn set to open in July 2020) that host visitors who enjoy Livingston's attractions and ease as a jumping off point to countless natural features. Park County is a wonderland of Montana moments for diverse visitors; world-class fly fishing, destination fine dining, whitewater rafting, dog sledding, challenging peak summits, relaxing hot springs, horseback trail rides, backcountry skiing, wildlife photo safaris, bonfire story time, big game hunting, mountain bike trail rides, riverside picnics, dancing to live music outdoors, enjoying local arts and often rubbing elbows with celebrities and local characters.

Describe your destination.

The overall goal of this first year as the newly designated CVB is to hone marketing plan goals that address the three phases of the travel decision process and complements what other CVBs and Tourism Regions have successfully utilized in targeting Montana visitors.

Inspiration: By employing authentic, enthusiastic and effective multi-media communication and outreach, the Livingston CVB will leverage Montana branding guidelines with a selection of inspiring imagery (Livingston is home to a wealth of fabulous photographers and videographers) and creative content in order to increase the desire to visit Livingston. The Montana Office of Tourism and Business Development (MOTBD) focuses a great deal of marketing efforts on Yellowstone National Park and mountain adventures; Livingston is situated in the heart of these amenities and is a natural jumping off point to begin explorations into those areas. Existing MOTBD branding imagery can be leveraged with Livingston's unmatched amenities; targeted messages can help inspire exploration of the area. We will develop our new CVB website (tentatively reserved as www.explorelivingstonmt.com as we finalize our messaging, tagline and branding) which will focus on where to stay, dine, shop and explore. From the website, a mobile app will be developed so that the content we have on our website can be in a user-friendly mobile app format. Increased social media presence and posts will be developed and disseminated and print advertising will be designed and distributed to local hotels, businesses and Yellowstone Country CVB partners. We'd also like to develop "selfie-station" geotagging maps where visitors can take selfies in front of iconic Livingston sites for organic peer-to-peer outreach and marketing. This could be a 'treasure hunt' feature with opportunity to win local prizes or gift certificates.

Orientation: Our intent this first year as the new CVB is to focus efforts on providing a state of the art and up-to-date website and mobile app; new and expanded social media venues; and, print ads and materials. Marketing materials will include information about lodging; food/restaurants; business services; tourist destinations; area events; fishing reports; local culture, history and art; a community calendar; other areas to explore in Park County and in Yellowstone Country; area trailheads; maps and more. Because visitors to Montana have so many destinations to choose from when arriving from any direction of the state, we would like to work with Yellowstone Country and MOTBD tools to help visitors plan multiple day vacations within our great state, including regional road trips with insider tips on highlights and hidden gems.

Facilitation: Through strategic placement and availability of printed materials, easy access to downloadable marketing materials via our mobile application and website and continued positive networking and social media, the Livingston CVB will attract intentional and unintentional visitors with many opportunities to experience places to stay, eat, shop and explore. Other marketing plans will include presenting visitors with all the information one would need to have an exceptional experience in the Livingston area and to help them think about neighboring areas in Yellowstone Country that would further enhance their stay. The CVB with TBID and LBID member assistance is in the process of securing a downtown and historic space to provide a quaint and inviting visitor center that we hope to have staffed with trained and knowledgeable volunteers, ideally partnering with recreation specialists for more in-depth information, and direct access to outdoor equipment and services, like fishing and hiking guides.

a. Define your target markets (demographic, geographic and psychographic).

Demographic: Livingston provides a plethora of outdoor exploration activities mixed with historic downtown shopping, cultural and dining experiences that appeal to a very wide demographic. Recently featured in the New York Times Style Magazine, author Natalie Storey penned "With Yellowstone National Park just an hour's drive away, Livingston is a perfect base camp for hikers, and the town's fishing guides make it their business to know every curve of the Yellowstone River. But the park's mountains, streams and forests also play an integral role in the wild, eclectic art found in the community's myriad galleries and boutiques. Considering Livingston's lively restaurants, Old West architecture and three charming, well-stocked bookstores, visitors could be forgiven for opting to stay firmly within the town limits."

Traditional tourism marketing in the area has focused on one-time visitors, often (1) families, on their way to Yellowstone. While that will continue to be a key group to target, with this new CVB iteration we'd like to expand that reach to bring more regional and repeat visitors. Livingston has been a (2) fly-fishing mecca for nearly a century and while it remains a multi-million-dollar industry and employs many in the region, the Yellowstone is becoming overfished and housing developments are further putting pressure on the river's health. Fly fishing fans often return annually and we'll continue to welcome them but would like to expand our (3) river sports (kayaking, stand up paddle boarding, floating, white water rafting) and outdoor enthusiast (hikers, campers, climbers, bikers) markets; highlighting the lesser known trails, areas and corners of the County where people can enjoy a more solitary connection with nature. (4) Ecotourism is a growing niche and as many businesses in our area are aware of their carbon footprint and environmental impact, we can highlight those options, including health food, vegetarian, and vegan options, to travelers who care deeply about the issues. We want to increase the outreach to (5) winter sports enthusiasts who enjoy cross country, backcountry and nearby downhill skiing, snow shoeing, sled dog rides, hot springs and day trips to Yellowstone as well as cozy winter dining and holiday events. Those who enjoy the (6) arts; from theatre, to music, to literature, to fine art are also a demographic that can be targeted more with literary tourism, art access and events, theatre and dining packages and music or live theatre getaways. (7) Hunting and related sportsmen are another distinct demographic who will require targeted outreach and amenities. (8) Destination weddings are an increasing demographic and Park County has an abundance of beautiful locations for weddings and caterers, florists and photographers able to make the occasion exceptional. While Livingston can be an excellent budget friendly choice, we also have amenities that appeal to those with (9) higher-end budgets and enjoy luxury spa experiences, gourmet picnics and wines, fine dining, shopping for bespoke fashion, original art and rare antiques or books. Finally, the (10) Western mystique of dude ranch experiences to create lasting memories for the whole family is another demographic that can be successfully targeted and matched with area resources. There is some overlap with the above demographics but younger, hip, professionals looking for a weekend getaway are drawn to Livingston's outdoor recreation, microbreweries, on-trend restaurants, record store, tattoo parlors, live music and stylish boutiques.

Geographic: Many people living in Montana and the greater Yellowstone area love the laid-back, quiet and quirky aspects that the region has long embodied. But as Montana communities become busier, more populated or are no longer thriving, many long for an authentic experience where they will still be blown away by nature but have easy access to modern and erudite amenities. Livingston is that rare place. Repeat and regional visitors are more likely to visit year-round, return to favorite shops, eateries and hotels and form connections and relationships in the area, creating a more stable income stream for Livingston and Park County.

A similar but wider geographic target is surrounding states; especially those with urban centers, that are within driving distance. As the world recovers from the coronavirus epidemic there will be a greater desire to avoid airports, crowded urban areas and attractions, and more desire to take lower-cost regional vacations where social distancing is built into the environment, as it is in our area.

Winter sports enthusiasts in areas where the snowfall has diminished are a potentially rich vein to tap, following more research on where these hot spots are.

As social media and online access has automatically made much marketing national and international, we can target some of our outreach budget to that world-wide demographic in the future as we track travel trends in the coming year. This year, we would like to research national print media and markets for more micro-targeting of the above demographic niches.

Psychographic: The target demographics and geographic areas discussed above will be segmented with the intention to appeal to, and manage expectations and satisfaction with, that demographic's experience exploring Livingston. In some cases that segmentation will be messaging and language, others with resources and assets listed and others through the specific medium and intended audience. We envision our website will include category portals tailored to specific demographics and/or the types of vacations/visits people are seeking. Internally, we will utilize individual 'personas' to represent each demographic to help aim our messaging to each segment.

Overall, however, our perspective will be that we want visitors to feel welcome, at home, relaxed, well cared for and have such a great time that they want to return. We will also include the perspective that this is our home and we have great respect for wilderness, wild animals, rural values, a clean environment and civil behavior and expect visitors to share and respect those values.

b. What are your emerging markets?

Emerging markets we feel comfortable pursuing include regional weekend and staycation visitors, especially in the first year during the coronavirus pandemic. These markets might include, but are not limited to:

- Destination weddings, coordinating with local venues and vendors.
- Water sports fans in addition to fishing - stand up paddle boarders, kayakers, floaters and white-water rafters.
- Year-round outdoor enthusiasts (cross country, back country and downhill skiers, snowshoers, Yellowstone winter visitors, hikers, campers, climbers, bikers) with access to rental equipment and locals' adventure recommendations.
- Foodie and farm-to-table visitors – to educate and excite visitors about our restaurants, boutique health markets, farmer's markets and farm-to-table programs (school, hospital, food pantry, local ranchers, aquaponic and greenhouse producers).
- Eco-tourists focused on footprint reduction (including local public transport and bike rentals) and healthy food choices (some overlap with food conscious marketing).
- Arts packages pairing theatre, film festivals, music festivals, art walks, readings with restaurant and hotel stays.
- A subset of the arts marketing is literary tourism with book store visits, readings, a tour and information about Livingston's noted writers, with overlapping movie and music ties.
- Those seeking luxury amenities, including spa experiences, gourmet picnics and wines, fine dining, shopping for bespoke fashion, original art and rare antiques or books.

Optional: Include attachments here.

c. What research supports your target marketing?

Research on each of the existing and emerging markets for Livingston and the Park County area has been utilized from the following sources:

- Montana Office of Tourism and Business Development
- Institute for Tourism and Recreation Research – Statewide Nonresident Travel Study
- Key Trends, Dependencies, Strengths, and Vulnerabilities in Park County, Montana, and its Area Economy – University of Montana – Dr. Larry Swanson, PhD

1) Consistent, professional marketing, targeting a wide demographic.

2) An increase in repeat and regional visitors.

3) Strategic, guided growth of sustainable tourism to markets and niches that increase local economic stability while minimizing environmental and cultural impact on local resources and residents.

a. In what types of co-ops with MTOT would you like to participate?

It will be important to be involved with a fall and/or winter advertising/marketing promotion opportunity. While Livingston doesn't have a ski resort in the community or county, we are located just 40 minutes from Bridger Bowl, 1.5 hours from Showdown Ski Resort and two hours from Red Lodge Mountain Resort or Big Sky Resort. Livingston also offers multiple trailheads and forest service roads that are heavily utilized by a growing number of cross country and back country skiers. As the only winter gateway to Yellowstone National Park, we'd like to partner on some promotions. Additional opportunities may include co-op outreach to culinary and arts tourism niches as appropriate and Yellowstone National Park marketing to national and international markets.

b. In what other types of co-ops would you like to participate? (Regions/CVBs, etc.)

When the Livingston Area Chamber of Commerce was the past designated CVB for Livingston, they participated in a variety of joint ventures/cooperative projects that included press trips, media events, trade shows such as IMEX and marketing campaigns. We look forward to continued partnerships and will actively seek further appropriate opportunities.

Nearby Bozeman is a bustling hub with a strong tourism and downtown partnership alliances that we are eager to work with. Many in Bozeman laud Livingston as the place they like to get away to, and we appeal to similar markets of outdoor enthusiasts, Yellowstone National Park travelers, skiers, foodies and lovers of the arts so can coordinate plans and engage in mutual recommendations.

Other co-op opportunities that would be important to pursue would include the neighboring communities of Park County, those that might not necessarily have the hotel room capacity to serve all of our visitors, but offer additional opportunities and unique characteristics that summon people to stay in Livingston as their home base and venture to the nearby communities during the day.

Northern Park County communities of Wilsall and Clyde Park are nestled in the Shields River Valley which is part of the original "YG - Bee Line" Route to Glacier National Park from YNP. Clyde Park is the only other incorporated community in Park County and Wilsall is the northernmost community in the County, located approximately 30 miles from Livingston. The Crazy Mountains and the Bridger Range surrounding these two ranching communities provide unbeatable views and multiple outdoor recreation amenities, popular for fishing, hiking, snowmobiling and cross-country skiing. They also offer rustic dining and bar experiences to further flavor the day trip.

From Livingston, most travelers head south toward the north entrance of Yellowstone National Park. Traveling alongside the Yellowstone River down US Highway 89, the valley opens into miles of mountain views and spectacular western ranches. The small and friendly community of Emigrant is named for the nearby mountain, Emigrant Peak, which rises to an altitude of 10,960 feet. The area offers plenty of fishing opportunities as well as camping and floating. Side trips from this part of the County include visits to the Custer Gallatin National Forest, Absaroka-Beartooth Wilderness, the small community of Pray, and the popular resorts Chico Hot Springs and Sage Lodge. To the west are drainages popular for multitudes of outdoor activities including the Tom Miner Basin, Big Creek and Trail Creek.

Continuing south through the famous Yankee Jim Canyon, the second largest community in Park County is the quaint and colorful Gardiner. The town sits on the north edge of YNP, making it the only year-round entrance into Yellowstone. Gardiner's small-town Montana charm, natural splendor and abundant wildlife truly make it a unique "home on the range" for nearly 900 residents. In 2017, the town received a much-needed $22 million facelift, which beautified the town with historic-looking street lamps, trees lining Park Street, new parking areas and necessary infrastructure improvements.

From Gardiner, Park County's smallest towns include Cooke City and Silver Gate, accessed via US Hwy 212, leading to the southern-most part of Park County. Silver Gate is located on the Montana/Wyoming border at the northeast entrance into Yellowstone National Park. Cooke City is one of the entrances into YNP and is popular for the world-famous Absaroka-Beartooth Highway (ABH) that connects Cooke City with Red Lodge. The alpine and structural wonder of the Beartooth Highway, an "All-American Road" generally opens in late May. Visitors come from around the world to visit the two communities before and/or after they experience the ABH summer snowfields, high-mountain vistas and legendary curves. While postponed until 2021, Cooke City will host the International Hemingway Conference, as Ernest Hemingway spent many summers in the area (and much of his family settled in the region).

Another popular destination easily reached from Livingston is the award-winning Tippet Rise arts center outside of Fishtail with few lodging options but offering tours (bus or bike) of their many miles of outdoor sculptures and breathtaking views of the Beartooth Mountains and plains.

c. What types of co-ops have you done in the past? Were they successful - why or why not?

The history of past joint ventures as Livingston CVB is vague and not readily available from Livingston Area Chamber of Commerce (who, through April 2020, had been the designated CVB); the most recent marketing plan presented by the Chamber indicated a completed joint venture with Yellowstone Country for spring and summer seasons with minimal results. No reason for the lack of results was indicated.

As the newly designated CVB for Livingston, LBID has historically collaborated with diverse entities and groups including collaboration with Livingston HealthCare, Yellowstone Bus Tours, Windrider Transit and Give A Hoot through Park County Community Foundation for banner production and hanging on our historic lamp posts in the LBID downtown area. The LBID supports and promotes local events with nonprofit and business groups including the Hoot Music Festival, Tap Into Montana Brew Fest, Farmer's Markets, and the Night Owl Run. While vying to be featured on the Small Business Revolution television show recently, we worked with neighboring community entities to rally voters around the country including the neighboring Sweet Grass Chamber of Commerce, Montana Chamber of Commerce, Park County Community Foundation, Governor's Office of Economic Development, Montana Ambassadors, Prospera Business Network, Montana State University Extension Office, Montana Film Office, City and County Commissioners, Montana House of Representative Laurie Bishop, representatives of Governor Bullock and Jon Tester, as well as local business leaders, television and newspaper reporters, local filmmakers, writers, photographers, and cultural influencers with local ties like Jeff Bridges. Our work during this time with local businesses outside of the downtown Business Improvement District was strong and many indicated a desire to work more closely with LBID in the future – even requesting to expand LBID boundaries so that more businesses could be included in our group.

Marketing Segment, Method & Budget

Marketing Segment	Marketing Method	Describe your method.	Provide supporting research/statistics.	How do you plan to measure success?	Provide a brief rationale for this method.	Estimated budget for method.	Marketing Method Evaluation	Add'l Attchmnt
Consumer	Print Advertising	Print advertising will be an important part of our marketing mix. A report by Deluxe Corporation in 2018 related the benefits of print marketing and found that businesses in the United States spent $13.5 billion on social media advertising in 2017, and social media spending is expected to hit $17 billion by 2019. However, in a survey, 76 percent of small businesses say that their ideal marketing plans include online and print marketing. Advertising in popular regional and state-wise publications such as Distinctly Montana and Big Sky Journal will be able to share the story of Livingston and its many amenities. Because we have statistics on our best social media posts through our LBID sites, we will be able to determine what kind of content, visuals and headlines will engage the most viewers. Because we were just designated the CVB in April 2020 and because of COVID-19 issues, we at LBID are rapidly shifting all marketing strategies in response to the pandemic, pivoting our traditional primary focus from promoting tourism from across the nation to providing pertinent information to our local communities and statewide meccas of interest. Our goal for all marketing segments is to help the State of Montana and our local communities stay safe and maintain Montana's status as the state with the lowest rate per	Six Reasons Why Print Marketing is Thriving (Target Marketing 2019); What Are the Advantages of Print Media Over Electronic Media? (Macromark 2019); and, Print is not Dead: How the Tourism Industry can Benefit from Print Adverts (Vi Free Press 2019). Additionally, the publications we have been researching for print ads reach well over 20,000 readers per publication.	Print advertising is difficult to measure, however our print advertising campaign can be successful by building our brand and supporting digital efforts. Duplication of our brand and logos in print advertising combined with viewers recognizing the same on our banners, social posts website tabs, etc. will bring legitimacy to the brand. Our measurement will be in the quality and consistency of the advertising and the reach data for the publication.	Placing ads in publications such as specialty magazines can effectively reach niche audiences that may be more difficult to target online, especially older populations.	$1,250.00 capita for COVID related issues. With this in mind, we will be focusing print advertising methods with themes that encourage Montana residents to take time to visit the plethora of great places within their state, when driving the regular routes and the backroads will be much less congested while getting to know what great opportunities abound in Montana.

Consumer	Radio & Television Advertising	Radio advertisers are once again dedicating increasing budgets to marketing over the radio airwaves. Even in the digital age, radio advertising is still seen as a highly effective and viable marketing medium. Radio will allow our message to be delivered to a targeted and captive audience at a cost that is much lower than most advertising mediums. This marketing method is one of the few advertising mediums that includes a built-in loyal audience. Most radio listeners have one or two favorite radio stations they tune in to regularly. Heavy radio users work listening into their daily habits and have specific times they tune in. Our radio advertisements will be tailored to specific times of day and radio programs to ensure we target our desired audience at the exact right time and are associated with content they prefer. There are a number of original content regional radio programs that we can advertise during to further hone our targeted reach. Because we were just designated the CVB in April 2020 and because of COVID-19 issues, we at LBJD are rapidly shifting all marketing strategies in response to the pandemic, pivoting our traditional primary focus from promoting tourism from across the nation to providing pertinent information to our local communities and statewide meccas of interest. Our goal for all marketing segments is to help the State of Montana and our local communities stay safe and maintain Montana's status as the state with the lowest rate per	With the advancement in technology, radio advertisements are becoming better when it comes to quality. Despite the competition from other forms of advertisement, Nielson Audio reports 243 million people listen to the radio, and have the potential to listen to advertisements. Every week, close to 92% of the total American population are tuning into the radio; the majority of those who love to listen to the radio are people who drive and those who stay at home. Every day, around 59% of the total American population is listening to a radio program. There are more than 6,000 radio stations in the United States, and thousands more can be found in other countries. 25% of those who are listening to radio advertisements are buying the product advertised after hearing it from the radio. Radio is one of the most accessible forms of media in the world today, despite the prevalence of the internet and the television.	While we will partially rely on radio stations' audience reach statistics, we can also track website visits following our ads. As we develop specific campaigns (like special events) eventually we can pilot "I heard it on the radio" promotions to track visitor response and efficacy of this marketing strategy and targeted demographic.	Radio advertisements can be more memorable compared to written and visual ads. According to researchers, sound can be stored effectively inside memory for longer than visuals. This is the reason why some companies are doing their best to create a memorable jingle that will stay in the minds of those who will listen to it. Also, there are positive associations with advertising that is in conjunction with preferred radio shows and times.	$2,000.00 capita for COVID related issues. With this in mind, we will be focusing radio and television advertising on the latest travel information as well as details on openings, closures, state mandates, etc. We have a very close relationship with Bradley Warren at KULR-8 NBC News in Bozeman who usually tries to provide a story about Livingston once per week. We will continue to work with Bradley on great new stories about why Livingston is a great destination for our Montana residents – all at no cost!

Consumer	Social Media	Our current LBID social media strategy utilizes both paid and organic posts and we will continue this successful marketing method with CVB related outreach. We can use social media through Facebook and Instagram to continue outreach about weekly town events, programs, and seasonal features, and to utilize user-generated content to build our Instagram and Facebook following and interaction. We have built strong partnerships with local business owners and community leaders who share our posts as we shares theirs, creating a cohesive and responsive community visitors can access. We will build on the traction of our hashtag #mylivingston by adding #explorelivingstonmt and other popular and relevant hashtags as they emerge from followers, and share the top photos on both Instagram and Facebook, which helps increase engagement. Creating Facebook events not only allows for discussion, engagement, and updates but many online calendars use this content. Creating a self-guided walking tour with selfie spots so visitors can share photos on social media with specific hashtags will also create organic content and build peer-to-peer outreach and marketing. This niche market includes young professionals enjoying regional road trips and the tweens and teens of traveling families;	We have no past Livingston CVB website stats to use as a basis, however, we are able to draw information from multiple area resources including: 5 Ways Social Media has Transformed Tourism Marketing (Entrepreneur 2017); Social Media and Tourism Marketing: Complete Guide (Digital Nuisance Blog 2020); The Impact of Social Media on the Tourism Industry (Hospitality Net 2015); and, Online Viral Marketing in Tourism Industry - Social Media Marketing (Tourism Review News 2020). During LBID's Small Business Revolution	Success will be measured by increased website referrals from social media, strong engagement with our content and shares and downloads of pertinent information and videos from social media, including links to our YouTube channel. We will continue profiling our awesome local businesses that can be supported virtually through gift certificates, takeout, curbside pickups, web orders and memberships. Regular posts of beautiful visuals of our popular destination, captured by locals and visitors will also be shared. Additional ventures with LBID and TBID will boost performance and increase budgets to expand possibilities. Obviously, the current restrictions on travel have not quenched people's desire to explore the world. We are hearing from local property management agencies and travel businesses that they are using this time to prepare for the eventual recovery, in both the leisure and business travel markets. One thing this crisis has brought home is that the travel and tourism ecosystem is closely interconnected - airlines, tour operators, museums and accommodations are all part of what makes the travel experience to a destination. We believe in the resilience of this industry and we know the future will be brighter. We would hope joint ventures with other CVBs in our region would be a way to offer great incentives to in-state travelers who are setting out on road trips across the state. Messaging to our in-state travelers with emphasis on our pristine outdoors, clean air, affordability and, of course, our outstanding state and national parks will be easy selling points.	opportunities with other CVBs or tourism regions, research will be performed to make sure the opportunity is advantageous and will work toward our first year CVB goals.	the marketing method selected with joint venture partner(s) which we hope will be determined in the first quarter of FY20/21.	greater return on investment and many regions and CVBs that are well established may be great resources for joint ventures. We will develop our new CVB website (www.explorelivingstonmt.com has been reserved) as we finalize our messaging, tagline and branding) which will focus on where to stay, dine, shop and explore.	$3,000.00
Marketing Support	TAC/Governor's Conference meetings	Budget allocation for hotels, meals and mileage to FY 21 Tourism Advisory Council meetings and Governor's Conference.	The Tourism Advisory Council is responsible for approval of CVB marketing plans and funding and attendance is required. The meetings are also important to keep informed of overall marketing goals as a state. The Governor's Conference is additional tool for valuable ideas and insight to continuously improve our marketing efforts.	Measures of success will be through multiple shared marketing and outreach ideas to implement into future marketing plans as well as creating relationships with peers so that we can strengthen partnerships, and call on their best practices for various strategies.	Travel dollars in this category may be reduced as distances from Livingston to some conferences are close enough to travel to the host city and back in the same day, eliminating the need for hotel nights - although those nights would help the overall cause of CVBs and Regions and increase peer interactions!	$1,250.00

Publicity	Social Media	We are researching and communicating with other Montana towns about the most cost-effective, efficient, and easy to update online self-guided walking tour platforms that also interface with printable versions. Currently, many visitors take unofficial self-guided tours as our historic downtown has many stunning views, a roster of buildings on the historic registrar, old "ghost signs" painted on brick walls, vintage neon signs, public art, and plenty of quirky and unique sights and landmarks. Our aim is to initially create a 'greatest hits' tour of popular contiguous sites with geotracking 'selfie-sites' encouraging shared photos and hashtags, plus 'insider tips' for places to eat, shops, stay, and explore. Area hotels have suggested a 'Scavenger Hunt' version in which visitors completing selfies at a series of sites will be eligible for local discounts or prizes and we are in conversation about developing this in conjunction with the tours. In subsequent years we can create more specialized tours, potentially some with live guides during busy seasons, and audio tour options for use with headphones and a smart phone; including Train Town, Literary Livingston, Art Tour, Famed film and music sites, Farm to Table tour, Rent a bike tours,	Self guided walking tours are increasing in popularity, as much 20% annually, (Exodus Travels, Tracks and Trails, Historic Denver) due to flexibility, cost, independence, avoiding unpleasant tour companions, and the benefit of physical activity and greater local engagement. Self-guided tours are favored by 44 percent of travelers (McKinsey & Co). Walking and hiking tours are the fastest-growing segment, with double-digit growth (Backroads Travel Co). "Walking will be the ultimate way to explore" travel site Booking.com predicted, adding that 56 percent of travelers said they wanted to go on walking or hiking trips. Updating Livingston to	We will measure the success by tracking use of the tour options (percentage of visitors taking the tour) and will look for one with a feedback/survey function to track success and recommended adjustments.	Walking tours, including self-guided walks, are enjoying a resurgence in popularity, attracting ever more travelers interested in exploring their destination in a slow, no-tech fashion: on foot. The self-satisfaction comes with completing a self-guided walking tour is far greater than that of a guided tour. You truly feel a sense of accomplishment as you have navigated your way around a community, while learning a bit about the history and culture. Visitors, area amenities, and technology are all evolving and online or app based self-guided tours are a low-cost, flexible and engaging method to enhance a wide range of visitors'	$2,000.00

		Fun with Kids, Top 5 hikes, Hot Springs Loop, and more. Eventually, audio tours should be easy to translate into various languages, as many visitors are from other countries. Because Livingston is a growing and dynamic town, frequent updates will be necessary as businesses, new murals, and other elements change so using an online platform will allow quick and inexpensive updates so the tours remain accurate and engaging. We are considering partnering with "DiscoveryMap.com" which has both a printed map and website presence in our region, Made in Montana's Taste Our Place, Historical Research Associates, and Next Exit History, among the platforms but will look for one that translates to various languages easily and includes a feedback function.	incorporate the Storytelling Smart City concept will allow us to engage visitors, make them feel more like locals, have the flexibility to direct and change visitor traffic as needed, and more easily connect travelers to amenities.		experiences while creating marketing content through selfie sites and responding to necessary changes.
